Southland Emerging From Terror And Desolation

DEATH TOTAL AROUND 135, 2000 HURT

Composite Property Losses Expected to Reach as High as Sixty Millions

1000 MINOR QUAKES

Emergency Measures Being Taken to Restore Area as Soon as Possible

BULLETIN
LOS ANGELES, March 13. (UP)—Increasing intensity of "settling tremors" spread fear through Southern California's earthquake stricken area today.

Counting its dead at 135 and estimating its property damages possibly as high as $60,000,000, the section was disturbed by heavy recurrent shocks.

A tremor at 5:16 a. m. was listed as the strongest since the original 5:55 p. m. jolt Friday that spread death and destruction through a dozen Southern California cities.

BANKS OF NATION BEGIN TO REOPEN FOR BUSINESS TODAY

FINANCIAL AID OF R.F.C. ASKED BY CITY DADS

Total of $750,000 Sought for Use in Rebuilding Following Quake

IMMEDIATE financial aid from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to assist in rebuilding the city was asked Saturday in telegrams sent by Mayor Paul Witmer and the City Council.

The wires were sent to Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Senators William Gibbs McAdoo and Hiram Johnson, Congressman Sam L. Collins, and Gov. James L. Rolph.

The telegrams are asking for $750,000 to be loaned at 3 per cent interest to owners of buildings in the downtown area for use in rebuilding structures damaged during the earthquake.

The wires to Pomerene stressed the fact that for many months the landlords and property owners have been carrying the merchants without revenue and that aid from the R. F. C. is the only means by which the city can be rebuilt.

Telegrams to Governor Rolph, Senators McAdoo and Johnson, and Congressman Collins, urging their co-operation in this city's effort to secure rehabilitation funds declared:

"Immediate and prompt substantial aid from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation must be had to carry on as practically one-half of our business area either is in ruins or will be condemned."

"Unless immediate substantial financial aid is given us by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Santa Ana cannot recover."

According to tentative plans the money when received will be administered by the City Council sitting as a special committee to receive applications and pass upon loans.

Mayor Witmer's telegram to Pomerene, requesting the loan, follows:

"Death and destruction has followed in the wake of one of the most severe earthquakes Southern California has ever experienced. Millions of dollars in loss of property has already resulted and tremors still occurring and no one can foretell what may result. Santa Ana and Long Beach hardest hit of all cities in Southern California."

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS TO NATION

(Following is the text of President Roosevelt's address over the radio last night. It is plain and to the point and the editor urges everyone to read it throughout believing that it will clarify the situation as nothing has in the past.)

I want to talk for a few minutes with the people of the United States about banking—with the comparatively few who understand the mechanics of banking, but more particularly with the overwhelming majority who use banks for the making of deposits and the drawing of checks. I want to tell you what has been done in the last few days, why it was done and what the next steps are going to be. I recognize that the many proclamations from state capitals and from Washington, the legislation, the Treasury regulations, etc., couched for the most part in banking and legal terms, should be explained for the benefit of the average citizen.

I owe this in particular because of the fortitude and good temper with which everybody has accepted the inconvenience and hardships of the banking holiday. I know that when you understand what we in Washington have been about I shall continue to have your co-operation as fully as I have had your sympathy and help during the past week.

Money to Work

First of all, let me state the simple fact that when you deposit money in a bank the bank does not put the money into a safe deposit vault. It invests your money in many different forms of credit—bonds, commercial paper, mortgages and many other kinds of loans. In other words, the

Federal Reserve Banks in 12 Key Cities Opened This Morning

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—(UP)—Banks began to reopen for normal business today with a pledge to the nation from President Roosevelt that "we will not have another epidemic of bank failures."

Banks licensed by the treasury were permitted to open today in the 12 key financial centers—the cities in which federal reserve banks are located. Tomorrow and Wednesday the reopenings will be extended throughout the country.

President Roosevelt in a public statement calling upon the nation to "unite in banishing fear," promised that the reopened banks "will meet all needs."

The lid remains clamped down on release of funds for hoarding. By order of Secretary of Treasury Woodin, withdrawals of deposits are limited to the funds needed for normal business and necessary personal expenditures.

"The first duty of banks reopening under the license of the secretary of the treasury for the performance of their usual functions is to see that the primary needs of the people for the necessities of life and normal business undertakings are met," Woodin announced.

Accordingly withdrawals for hoarding have been prohibited and the secretary of the treasury rules that until more normal conditions have been established, transfers of funds by banks on their business will be limited to necessary purposes."

New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Richmond, St. Louis, Kansas City, Dallas, Cleveland, Chicago, Minneapolis and San Francisco are the 12 cities in which licensed banks were permitted to resume business today. Treasury and federal reserve officials passed on the fitness of federal reserve member banks in these cities to reopen. State authorities were certifying state banks.

Private banks such as J. P. Morgan and company, which are not members of the reserve system or under the immediate supervision of any state authority, also were permitted to reopen today.

Register Gets Publicity Over World

Recognizing the fact that The Register was the only paper in Southern California to "extra" on the night of the quake the United Press sent the following dispatch Saturday to all corners of the earth on its wire and cable services:

"With bricks and masonry falling about their heads the staff of The Santa Ana Register last night published an extra edition telling of the earthquake toll throughout Southern California. Recurrent shocks made it impossible to remain in the city room, and desks and typewriters were moved to the middle of the street where the staff turned out copy with citizens looking over their shoulders. Linotype operators and pressmen in another part of the structure, stuck to their machines."

ESTIMATED DAMAGE HERE WILL BE $1,000,000 IN OPINION OF INSPECTORS

Police Barriers in Downtown Section of City Let Down and Business Men Begin Clearing Debris.

EARTH TREMORS CONTINUE

WITH ENTHUSIASM characteristic of the courage of its people, Santa Ana started to rebuild today.

The earthquake which took its toll of lives here Friday night, and the subsequent damage, was still fresh in the minds of most people, but when the police barriers, which have kept the public out of the downtown district since the first quake was felt were let down this morning, there was a wholesale rush of carpenters, workers of all sorts, anxious to put the buildings back in condition so that business could go on as usual.

The estimate of the damage in Santa Ana, most of which was felt in the business district, was set at $1,000,000, while inspectors, brought here from other cities declared that the building loss in the downtown area was approximately $300,000.

Early today, Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard issued orders which pulled down the barriers from a large portion of the business district. At noon today there were only 12 business blocks barred from the public and these were accessible with the aid of passes, which were easy to get from the chief himself. This district was between Third and Sixth streets, Bush street to Broadway. There are a number of buildings which may tumble should another quake be felt here and for that reason, this area will be roped off.

Workers started to work on a number of these buildings today, and by tonight the entire district probably will be thrown open, Howard said.

McAdoo SEEKS FIVE MILLION FOR SOUTHLAND

Resolution Introduced in Senate Today; R.F.C. to Be Asked for More

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—Senator McAdoo, Dem., Calif., introduced in the Senate today a resolution to appropriate $5,000,000 for relief of the California earthquake zone.

The McAdoo resolution provides that the President expend the relief funds in those counties in Southern California which he deems have been "materially damaged" by the earthquake.

The funds would be disbursed by the Treasury or by any agency appointed by the President.

William H. Evans, president emeritus of the Culver City, Calif., Chamber of Commerce, who associated with McAdoo in the draft of the resolution, said he and McAdoo would ask the Reconstruction Finance Corporation tomorrow for a rehabilitation loan.

Evans said the corporation would be asked to lend $10,000,000 or more for rehabilitation in Los Angeles and Orange counties. The congressional appropriation, he said, was designated for immediate relief uses.

McAdoo asked immediate consideration of his resolution, but minority leader, McNary, on reference to the appropriations committee, explaining that "the sum may be too great or it may be found on the

MAYOR ISSUES PROCLAMATION SUNDAY NIGHT

Decrees Today and Tuesday Holidays; Stores Open Wednesday

A PROCLAMATION by Mayor Paul Witmer, made late yesterday, decrees today and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday, a special holiday in Santa Ana.

With most of the business district closed, and merchants in many cases anxious to get their stocks rearranged before opening the stores, the mayor's proclamation is welcomed in most quarters.

The two holidays will close all city offices and all businesses which desire to remain closed, while it was pointed out that the business houses that desired to open could do so.

At a meeting of the council yesterday morning an emergency resolution was passed, which in view of the situation gave the council full police powers in the city, by taking charge of the police department, the fire department, the responsibility of clearing the streets and "for all other purposes it may deem necessary and for the spending of all money it may deem necessary."

The taking over of the police and fire departments of the city is not to be taken literally, however, Clyde Downing, city attorney, pointed out.

The council has been generous

BULLETIN
LOS ANGELES, March 13.—(UP)—Southern California, emerging from the terror and desolation of a major disaster, was able to approximate for the first time today the staggering cost of an earthquake that spread death in a score of towns and cities.

The list of fatalities from Friday night's shocks hovered around 135, and 2000 injured, as authorities began checking individuals reported missing or unaccounted for. So great was the confusion that even coroner's deputies had conflicting lists of victims.

As reports of wrecking crews reached headquarters in the stricken districts, the possibility developed that composite property losses might reach $60,000,000 in the 400 square miles visited by the temblor.

This was almost 10 times the initial estimates made Saturday. First inspections, officials said, did not reveal the true extent of the damage sustained by Long Beach, Compton, Huntington Park, Los Angeles and other cities within the shaken area.

The composite loss figure, growing hourly as more detailed reports came in from the ravaged cities, appalled local and governmental officials faced with the task of rehabilitation.

Their problem was the more acute because of the national financial crisis, and the fact that Southern California at the moment was unable to help itself through open banking channels.

ROOSEVELT IN MESSAGE ASKS MODIFICATION

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—President Roosevelt in a surprise move that startled even his closest friends today sent a message to congress calling for immediate modification of the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer.

In the briefest message he has yet submitted to the legislators, Mr. Roosevelt asked for immediate action in carrying out one of his foremost pledges to the nation. He asked that manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages be permitted in order to bolster the revenues of the government.

The message follows:

"I recommend to the congress the passage of legislation for the immediate modification of the Volstead act, in order to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content as is permissible under the constitution; and to provide through the manufacture and sale, by substantial taxes, a proper and much needed revenue for the government."

"I deem action at this time to be of the highest importance."

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

WELFARE WORK CARRIED ON IN QUAKE SECTOR

TEMPORARY relief for the needy of Orange county and for earthquake victims has been arranged by County Welfare Director B. V. Curry. Arrangements have been made to care for the needy in each community without them applying to the main office of the department during the next few days.

In Seal Beach where the situation was the most serious when the quake shut off the gas and water supply Curry applied for and received assistance from the Army Air corps stationed at March Field.

Army cooks and two field kitchens have been sent to Seal Beach from March Field and meals are being served. Water is being hauled in for drinking and sanitary purposes.

Housing arrangements have been made for four families whose homes were so badly damaged that they could no longer be occupied. One family is living in Santa Ana, two in Westminster, and one in Greenville.

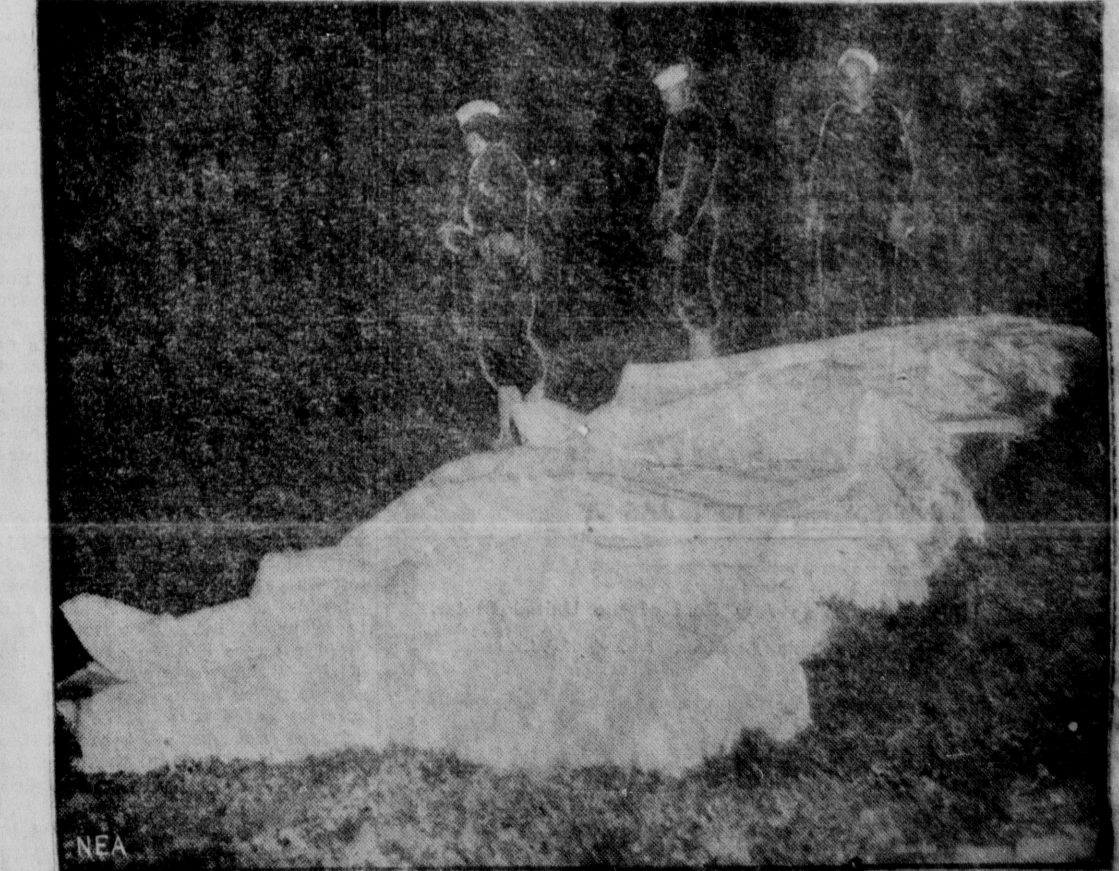

Arrangements have been made to care for the needy in each community through the local welfare

SCENES OF DESTRUCTION CAUSED BY EARTHQUAKE

Spring Vacation Begins Today In Santa Ana Schools

MOST COUNTY SCHOOLS ALSO FALL IN LINE

Santa Ana schools and practically all schools in the county are starting their Spring vacations today. School buildings will be made and necessary repairs made.

Word was received here this morning by County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson, from Visiting Kiersey, state superintendent of public instruction, that state school funds would not be withheld in cases where schools are closed because of earthquake damage. Kiersey said that he had power to declare an emergency and issue state aid regardless of whether or not the schools were open.

City Superintendent of Schools Frank A. Henderson, announced this morning that spring vacation for city schools would be started today. During the enforced vacation all buildings will be thoroughly inspected and any necessary repairs made.

County Superintendent of Schools Adkinson said this morning that he is advising all county schools to take their spring vacation at this time.

Many of the county schools, according to a hurried check this morning must have some repairs made before they are fit for occupancy again.

Spring holiday was declared today instead of April 10. During the vacation a thorough inspection of day at Tustin high school, all schools in Buena Park and Fullerton, Huntington Beach, Anaheim, Costa Mesa, Garden Grove, and Seal Beach. Other county schools probably will take the same action during the day as soon as they can get in touch with Adkinson.

Adkinson said this morning that the elementary school at Huntington Beach is totally destroyed. If school is held in that community this year it will be in temporary quarters. The high school, however, was undamaged.

All Buena Park, Lindbergh school is so badly damaged that it will have to be razed. The elementary school at Costa Mesa was badly damaged. Schools at Seal Beach are totally destroyed and if classwork is conducted during the remainder of the year it will have to be in temporary quarters.

In Garden Grove damage to the elementary school building was slight.

Reports from other districts in the county had not been received by County Superintendent Adkinson this morning at a late hour.

London's oldest bank is the Hoare's, the use of which cannot be certainly stated; but there is in existence a receipt dated 1633 for money deposited there in that year with Lawrence Hoare, who was in business as a goldsmith.

bank puts your money to work to keep the wheels of industry and of agriculture turning around. A comparatively small part of the money you put into the bank is kept in currency — an amount which in normal times is wholly sufficient to cover the cash needs of the average citizen. In other words, the total amount of all the currency in the country is only a small fraction of the total deposits in all of the banks.

What, then, happened during the last few days of February and the first few days of March? Because of undermined confidence on the part of the public, there was a general rush by a large portion of our population to turn bank deposits into currency or gold — a rush so great that the soundest banks could not get enough currency to meet the demand.

The reason for this was that, on the spur of the moment it was, of course, impossible to sell perfectly sound assets of a bank and convert them into cash, except at panic prices far below their real value.

By the afternoon of March 3 scarcely a bank in the country was open to do business. Proclamations temporarily closing them in whole or in part had been issued by the Governors in almost all the states.

Congress Acts
It was then that I issued the proclamation providing for the nationwide bank holiday, and this was the first step in the Government's reconstruction of our financial and economic fabric.

The second step was the legislation promptly and patriotically passed by the Congress confirming my proclamation and broadening my powers so that it became possible, in view of the requirement of time, to extend the holiday and lift the ban of that holiday gradually.

This law also gave authority to develop a program of rehabilitation of our banking facilities. I want to tell our citizens in every part of the nation that the National Congress—Republicans and Democrats alike—showed by this action a devotion to public welfare and a realization of the emergency and the necessity for speed that it is difficult to match in our history.

The third stage has been the series of regulations permitting the banks to continue their functions to take care of the distribution of food and household necessities and the payment of payrolls.

This bank holiday, while resulting in many cases in great inconvenience, is affording us the opportunity to supply the currency necessary to meet the situation. No sound bank is a dollar worse off than it was when it closed its doors last Monday. Neither is any bank which may turn out not to be in a position for immediate opening.

The new law allows the twelve Federal Reserve banks to issue additional currency on good assets, and thus the banks which reopen will be able to meet every legitimate call. The new currency is being sent out by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in large volume to every part of the country. It is sound currency.

Remember that the essential accomplishment of the new legislation is that it makes it possible for banks more readily to convert their assets into cash than was the case before. More liberal provision has been made for banks to borrow on these assets at the Reserve Banks and more liberal provision has also been made for issuing currency on the security of these good assets. This currency is not fiat currency. It is issued only on adequate security—and every good bank has an abundance of such security.

One more point before I close. There will be, of course, some banks unable to reopen without being reorganized. The new law allows the government to assist in making these reorganizations quickly and effectively, and even allows the government to subscribe to at least a part of new capital which may be required.

I hope you can see from this elemental recital of what your government is doing that there is nothing complex or radical in the process.

We had a bad banking situation. Some of our bankers had shown themselves either incompetent or dishonest in their handling of the people's funds. They had used the money entrusted to them in speculations and unwise loans. This was, of course, not true in the vast majority of our banks, but it was true in enough of them to put them into a frame of mind where they did not differentiate, but seemed to assume that the acts of a comparative few had tainted them all. It was the government's job to straighten out this situation and do it as quickly as possible—and the job is being performed.

Create Sound Banks
I do not promise you that every bank will be reopened or that individual losses will not be suffered, but there will be no losses that possibly could be avoided; and there would have been more and greater losses had we continued to drift. I can even promise you salvation for some at least of our sorely pressed banks. We shall engage not merely in reopening sound banks but in the creation of sound banks through reorganization.

It has been wonderful to me to catch the note of confidence from all over the country. I can never renew because it is backed by actual, good assets.

A question you will ask is this—why are all the banks not to be reopened at the same time? The answer is simple. Your government does not intend that the history of the past few years shall be repeated. We do not want and will not have another epidemic of bank failures.

As a result we start tomorrow, Monday, with the opening of banks in the twelve Federal Reserve bank cities—those banks which on first examination by the Treasury have already been found to be all right. This will be followed on Tuesday by the resumption of all their functions by banks already found to be sound in cities where there are recognized clearing houses. That means about 250 cities of the United States.

Extension Necessary
On Wednesday and succeeding days banks in smaller places all through the country will resume business, subject, of course, to the government's physical ability to complete its survey. It is necessary that the reopening of banks be extended over a period in order to permit the banks to make applications for necessary loans, to obtain currency needed to meet their requirements and to enable the government to make common-sense checkups.

Let me make it clear to you that if your bank does not open the first day you are by no means justified in believing that it will not open. A bank that opens on one of the subsequent days is in exactly the same status as the bank that opens tomorrow.

Same Procedure
I know that many people are worrying about state banks not members of the Federal Reserve System. These banks can and will receive assistance from member banks and from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

These state banks are following the same course as the national banks except that they get their licenses to resume business from the state authorities, and these authorities have been asked by the Secretary of the Treasury to permit their good banks to open up on the same schedule as the national banks. I am confident that the state banking departments will be as careful as the national government in the policy relating to the opening of banks and will follow the same broad policy.

It is probable that when the banks resume a very few people who have not recovered from their fear may again begin withdrawals. Let me make it clear that the bank will take care of all needs and it is my belief that hoarding during the past week has become an exceedingly unfashionable pastime. It needs no prophet to tell you that when the people find that they can get their money—that they can get it when they want it for all legitimate purposes—the phantom of fear will soon be laid. People will again be glad to have their money where it will be safely taken care of and where they can use it conveniently at any time. I can assure you that it is safer to keep your money in a reopened bank than under the mattress.

The success of our whole great national program depends, of course, upon the co-operation of the public—on its intelligent support and use of a reliable system.

Reorganize Some
Remember that the essential accomplishment of the new legislation is that it makes it possible for banks more readily to convert their assets into cash than was the case before. More liberal provision has been made for banks to borrow on these assets at the Reserve Banks and more liberal provision has also been made for issuing currency on the security of these good assets. This currency is not fiat currency. It is issued only on adequate security—and every good bank has an abundance of such security.

unless prohibited by state restrictions. Secretary Woodin further authorized the following institutions to reopen this morning: all federal reserve banks and their branches, federal land banks federal intermediate credit banks, joint stock land banks, federal home loan banks, regional agricultural credit corporations, and the reconstruction finance corporation.

Tuesday certified banks in about 250 cities in which there are organized clearing houses may resume business. On Wednesday banks in all other cities and towns will open as fast as federal and state officials certify their soundness and relax present state restrictions.

The reopening was placed on this gradual basis to afford ample time for distribution of the new federal reserve bank notes which the bureau of engraving here is turning out at the rate of $50,000,000 a day. It also gives the 10,000 state banks which are not members of the federal reserve system more time to join the system or obtain ample funds from member banks and other agencies.

"I know that many people are worrying about state banks not members of the federal reserve system," President Roosevelt said. "These banks can and will receive assistance from member banks and from the reconstruction finance corporation."

Mr. Roosevelt again emphasized that "if your bank does not open the first day, you are by no means justified in believing that it will not open. A bank that opens on one of the subsequent days is in exactly the same status as the bank that opens tomorrow."

"I do not promise that every bank will be reopened or that individual losses will not be suffered," the president continued. "But there will be no losses that possibly could be avoided; and there would have been more and greater losses had we continued to drift."

"I can even promise you salvation for some at least of the sorely pressed banks. We shall engage not merely in reopening sound banks, but in the creation of sound banks through reorganization."

Explaining the situation which made it necessary for him to declare the banking holiday, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"We had a bad banking situation. Some of our bankers had shown themselves either incompetent or dishonest in their handling of the people's funds. They had used the money entrusted to them in speculations and unwise loans. This was, of course, not true in the vast majority of our banks, but it was true in enough of them to put them into a frame of mind where they did not differentiate, but seemed to assume that the acts of a comparative few had tainted them all. It was the government's job to straighten out this situation and do it as quickly as possible—and the job is being performed."

The president explained that banks ordinarily loan out a large proportion of deposits to keep business going, and that hence even the soundest banks could not get enough currency to meet the public rush for cash in the closing days of February and the first days of March. This made it necessary for him to declare the banking moratorium while congress passed the emergency laws making further currency available.

"The new law," he pointed out, "allows the 12 federal reserve banks to issue additional currency on good assets and thus the banks which reopen will be able to meet every legitimate call. The new currency is being sent out by the bureau of engraving and printing in large volume to every part of the country. It is sound currency because it is backed by actual, good assets."

be sufficiently grateful to the people for the loyal support they have given me in their acceptance of the judgment that has dictated our course, even though all our processes may not have seemed clear to them.

After all there is an element in the readjustment of our financial system more important than currency, more important than gold, and that is the confidence of the people. Confidence and courage are the essentials of success in carrying out our plan. You people must have faith; you must not be stampeded by rumors or guesses. Let us unite in banishing fear. We have provided the machinery to restore our financial system; it is up to you to support and make it work.

It is your problem no less than it is mine. Together we cannot fail.

city, who also is a building contractor, and City Building Inspector L. L. Pope arrived here. These two experts together with Arthur Viel, building contractor of Alhambra, were appointed special inspectors and they made a hurried inspection of the city.

Many buildings which the public in general would think were ruined by the quakes are not seriously damaged, according to the report this committee gave to the council throughout the day.

Officials Here
The Santa Barbara officials went a long way in restoring confidence in the whole of the city, in making valuable suggestions towards rebuilding and in pointing out the various things that should be done before the business district was opened, and Clyde Downing, city attorney, who was responsible for bringing them here, declared today that Santa Ana was extremely fortunate in being able to procure the services of these men. Both had been through the Santa Barbara experience in official capacities, and both were ready to tackle the situation in Santa Ana backed with vast knowledge of earthquakes.

Long Beach applied for the same men, but they were here by the time the request came. They will be here until this afternoon and then are scheduled to aid in reconstruction work in Long Beach.

Graham declared that the damage to buildings downtown was not as bad as people here believed. There are many which look as if they should be razed, which he declared were sound so far as their structures were concerned.

"The greatest and virtually all the danger now is in the damaged firewalls. This is the work of no more than two days if men are put to work immediately clearing them. Most all of the buildings can be entered with safety today," he declared.

Graham also brought out the fact that so far as is known the first quake felt is always the worst and therefore the people here should not be alarmed about subsequent quakes. "If the building survived the first jar, then it is safe to state that they will withstand any quakes that follow," he declared.

Danger Zones
Both Santa Barbara experts declared that it was not necessary to keep the entire business district closed, they stating and the council agreeing that the danger zones could be blocked off by individual barriers for the next few days, pending a time when these buildings could be repaired properly.

Announcement was made by Chief Howard that the members of the five National Guard units on patrol duty here, could be dismissed, probably at 6 p. m. today. The guards have rendered the city a great service, Howard pointed out, and they worked in a capacity that could not be replaced. Units from five companies were on guard here, Company L and Headquarters company, Santa Ana; Company I, of Orange; Company K, of Anaheim, and part of the machine gun company from San Bernardino. They are stationed in Birch park where a regular army camp has been erected.

Open Buildings
To facilitate matters, so that business houses could be opened here as soon as possible, in spite of the Mayor's proclamation ordering Monday and Tuesday as special holidays, the city council at a meeting last night appointed 12 well known architects as deputy building inspectors. These men hurried this morning to inspect every building in the city, making their reports to the building inspector at his office in the city hall building.

Owners of buildings or lessees can go there and see on a card what the inspectors have found wrong with his building, or whether his building has been approved for entrance by the public.

The council pointed out that the inspections made today were not permanent ones, but merely for safety measures. Later in the week, each building will be more thoroughly inspected, so that when repairs are made, they can be made permanently.

The list of contractors and builders named as deputy building inspectors are: O. T. Moore, Jules Markel, R. C. McMillan, Therman Means, Adolf Schmidt, W. H. Bowman, E. A. Noe, William Rohrbacher, L. R. Wilson, V. J. Anderson, Wells and Bressler, and George Barrows.

Council Meets
The city council, meeting last night in the Temple theater at Third and Bush streets, proposed an emergency building ordinance which would amend the city's building code, but the passage of it was held up.

This new ordinance would make it mandatory that all buildings to be repaired use the bond stone, which would give each building more anchorage and which would form a continuous band around the entire building. This would keep the building from going to pieces during an earthquake and at the same time would make it more durable. It would prevent lateral thrusts and would allow the building to stand heavier strain in every way.

The Santa Barbara experts pointed out that buildings here where bond stones were used, were not damaged in the recent quakes, and stated that Santa Barbara had included this section in its building ordinance.

There was some discussion of the measure, but it did not come to a vote, following some argument from the floor, from contractors who were present and who declared that the cost might prove too heavy.

Rebuilding Plans
Jules Markel appeared before the council for the American Legion and proposed the city order the streets cleaned, giving the work to the unemployed, but this was stopped when it was brought out that the debris of fallen bricks still belonged to the property owner and that in many cases this same brick would be used to rebuild.

J. B. Tucker, commander of the Legion spoke also for the unemployed, asking the council to take some action giving local work to local unemployed. The Legion is working in conjunction on this project with the Unemployed Association.

Announcement was made that no permits would be necessary to tear down fire walls and even buildings during the present emergency, but that when rebuilding was actually started, permits would be needed. These must be procured from the building inspector in the city hall building.

The city hall is to be reopened. Although badly damaged, the council chamber and the office of J. L. McBride, new city engineer being the worse hit, an inspection shows that the building is sound and will be rebuilt, although several portions of wall will probably have to come out first. The building was being braced today.

Workers started rebuilding the county court house today also. Except for the loss of four gables which tumbled to the street, the damage is not considered great. One of the runways between the court house and the hall of records building was demolished by falling brick.

City streets were almost clean of debris by noon today. By tonight the city will give a different aspect to sightseers, when many firewalls will be cleared away, and within 24 hours the actual work while reports show that a number of buildings here are not damaged as badly as they appear, there are a great number that are in a very dangerous condition.

The Otis building at Fourth and Main streets was badly cracked, and the rear wall of it was declared to be in bad condition.

The building occupied by the Bon Ton Store at Fifth and Broadway appears to be ready to give way on the north side, a large crack having appeared late yesterday in this wall.

Church Damaged
The First Baptist church, at Church and Main streets may prove to be the biggest loss in the city. Inspectors have not gone into it, but the walls are bulging on three sides, so badly that soldiers and police have not allowed anyone near there, since a quake at 4 p. m. yesterday when the building seemed to give way considerably.

Damage to the Spurgeon theater on Spurgeon street also is believed to have been serious. One of its walls is bulging over an alley on the north side of the building more than a foot.

Much damage was done to the McCormack building on North Main street.

The Fox West Coast theater and the Fox Broadway theater also escaped without damage of any kind. Theaters are built under more rigid restrictions than other type of buildings and this precaution showed its effect in the recent quakes. Les Fountain, city manager here, said today the management was merely waiting instructions to open again, the buildings having been approved.

Big Beach Hotel
Like Snake When Earthquake Came

LONG BEACH, March 13. (INS) — The fashionable Villa Riviera, million dollar own-your-own apartment hotel, writhed like a snake during the quake, C. C. Conklin, treasurer of the Press-Telegram, declared today.

"I was in a fourteenth story window when the quake came," he told friends. "The building, a steel and concrete structure, seemed like rubber. At one time I was out over the center of Ocean avenue, one hundred feet from the foundation of the hotel. I thought we were going to land on the street."

fare agencies in order to prevent crowds from gathering at the main office in Santa Ana until after the building has been thoroughly inspected.

Representatives of the Welfare department have called on all the aged people receiving state aid to see that they have been cared for and boarding homes where children receiving state aid are quartered have been visited.

Workers from Curry's department are patrolling the areas to which they are assigned checking up on food supplies and food sufficient for several days has been delivered to agencies in all communities.

In its praise of Chief of Police F. W. Howard and the entire police department for the manner in which the city has been patrolled from the time of the first quake, and citizens throughout the town have declared that an emergency could not have been handled better than it was by the local police department.

The measure is the only way that the city council can legally go about the business it has to do, in placing the city again in order, Downing pointed out. There has been and there will be no attempt on the part of the council to interfere in any way with the work of the police, even should it desire so to do, it was said.

The emergency ordinance, passed with the wording it carries, gives the council much broader power in administering to the stricken city, it was declared.

While Howard was being given much credit for the performance of his department, he at the same time expressed gratitude to the American Legion, to his own Junior police, the National Guard and to the California Lancers for the co-operative spirit each of them has shown in police work during the emergency.

WILL INSPECT ALL ANAHEIM BUILDINGS

ANAHEIM, March 13.—A special meeting of the city council was called at 10 o'clock this morning to appoint a committee to inspect all buildings affected by the earthquake. The committee of five will work with Inspector R. Nyboe. City Clerk John Price was busily engaged at noon today contacting the various merchants whose names were suggested to serve on the committee. The inspection will be made as soon as the committee is completed.

ONE ABANDONED 30 YEARS AGO BREAKS LOOSE

Artesian wells in one district in Orange county, some of which have not flowed for 20 and 30 years, were flowing with renewed activity this morning following Friday night's earthquake, according to reports from Huntington Beach.

At the D. O. Stewart ranch an abandoned well which had not been flowing for the past 30 years, and from which the casing had been removed, began flowing, the removal of the casing preventing capping the well, and water is now flooding a part of the ranch. On the same ranch two other wells began flowing with such force that it required six hours to cap them.

W. J. Newland, who has a ranch near Huntington Beach, found every well on his place, which number seven or eight, running. Five have not flowed for 15 or 20 years.

All of the wells which have started flowing are in the Santa Ana valley, between Talbert and the mouth of the Santa Ana river. None in the Wintersburg and Westminster districts have been reported. Springs have bubbled up in fields where no springs were known to exist and fields were inundated.

ORANGE COUPLE STRUCK BY CAR

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Terry, 127 South Tustin street, Orange, were seriously injured last night when they were struck by a car driven by Dave Proulx of 213 Adelaide street, Anaheim, as they were crossing the intersection at Pixley street and Chapman avenue, Orange.

Mr. Terry, who is 77 years of age, suffered a right collar bone fracture and was badly bruised about the shoulders. Mrs. Terry, 51, suffered severe lacerations on both lower limbs and was badly bruised. Officer Homer Davis investigated the accident and the injured man and wife were taken to Dr. Lavon Bramwell who treated them for their injuries.

SEAL BEACH BRIDGE CLOSED. ROADS IN AREA ARE CRACKED

The bridge at Seal Beach has been closed to traffic and has lopped sideways, according to a report received here this morning. On the Newport road, one side of the paving has sunk four inches lower than the other for a distance of several hundred yards. On the coast highway, between Sunset Beach and Huntington Beach, the pavement is cracked for one-fourth of a mile, with cracks in the pavement two feet wide at some points. The pavement is badly buckled in places, and one-half of the highway has been closed to traffic.

County Clerk's Office Open On Courthouse Lawn

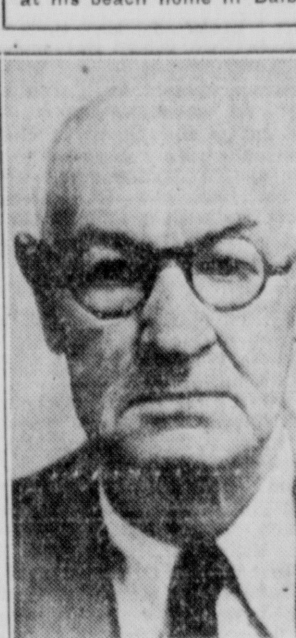

Love laughing at locksmiths is just an amateur performance. In Santa Ana love is guffawing at the earthquake.

Emergency offices were established on the lawn in front of the courthouse this morning by County Clerk J. M. Backs and the first business license was issued a marriage license to Walter S. Gae, 56, of Los Angeles and Katie L. Warner, 61, also of Los Angeles.

Deputy Clerks Ora Tetzlaff, Mrs. Edna Squires, Mrs. Dolly Peavey, Helen Kubitz, Ed Klobe, Clyde Bruce and Lynn Wallace were on duty accepting papers for filing. While workmen are busy clearing away debris about the courthouse county officials were out locating temporary quarters for the three departments of superior court. Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel announced this morning that courts probably would resume business tomorrow in schools and churches, undamaged by the quakes.

DIES SUDDENLY

George A. Edgar, 74, pioneer Santa Ana merchant and native son of California, who died suddenly Saturday at his beach home in Balboa.

GEORGE EDGAR, S. A. PIONEER DIES SUDDENLY

George A. Edgar, 74, pioneer Santa Ana merchant and widely known citizen, passed away at his summer home in Balboa Saturday. Death came suddenly and without warning. He was conversing with his wife and his brother-in-law, Frank Vanderlip, when he gave a fleeting glance at his companion of more than half a century, and dropped dead.

Edgar had recently retired from active business and since then has been retired, living at his home on East Chestnut street in Santa Ana and at the beach cottage at Balboa with his children and grandchildren.

A native son of California, George Edgar was born in Vallejo, California, on July 18, 1859, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Edgar. His rudimentary education was obtained in the Vallejo public schools, but his broad business education he obtained in many years of merchandising experience.

Employed by Dannenbaum company in the city of his birth, he found strict business experience of great value in his associations there. He came to Santa Ana in 1883, engaged in the grocery and crockery business at 114 East Fourth street, and remained in that same location practically 50 years. At the time of his retirement in 1932 he had passed all business firms in the city for continuous business activities and "Edgar" was known far beyond the confines of the city for its exclusive imported merchandise.

Not only did he take an interest in the business circles of the city, but he displayed an active concern for the welfare of Santa Ana. He served the city on two occasions as mayor; he assisted in the organization of the first Chamber of Commerce and was one of its directors; he helped organize the Home Mutual Building and Loan association; he joined with other of his pioneer friends in the creation of the Orange County Title company and identified himself with many of the earlier civic organizations. He was treasurer of the Orange County Racing association during its existence.

Edgar was known by his friends to be forceful, direct and uncompromising. He threw himself into the fight to divorce Orange from Los Angeles county and had many dramatic encounters with the opposition. He was mayor of Santa Ana at the time the Pacific Electric Railway company franchise was granted and many of the public utilities developments were issues when he officially served the city.

In Santa Ana his fraternal affiliations were with the Odd Fellows, the Masons, the Elks, and the Native Sons of the Golden West. He was a member of the Episcopal church and served as vestryman until late years. He is survived by his widow, Oceana Vanderlip Edgar; two daughters, Lula Edgar Horton, wife of J. C. Horton, and Amelia Edgar Barnes, wife of H. E. V. Barnes of Anaheim; and one son, Nelson Edgar of Santa Ana. There are also eight grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in charge of the Winbigler Funeral home with the Rev. W. J. Hatter, pastor of the Church of the Messiah, Episcopal, officiating at the graveside in Fairhaven cemetery. Public attending is requested to go directly to the cemetery.

COUNTY TAKES DAMAGE TOLL. MOVES DEBRIS

Orange county today is taking stock of damage done by the earthquake and making arrangements for clearing away debris and repairing damages in cases where buildings have not already been condemned.

Schools generally have been closed for at least a week and many business houses will remain closed during temporary repairs. Business houses generally, however, are opening as fast as inspectors pronounce buildings safe and workmen can clean away debris.

SMALL STORES OPEN AT HUNTINGTON BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 13.—A few of the smaller stores at Huntington Beach were opened for business this morning but the greater number of the smaller stores and the bank will not be opened until the buildings have been declared safe by building inspectors.

The Huntington Beach high school will be closed for a week and it is not certain whether the grammar school will be opened at all, according to an announcement made this morning.

WATER SERVICE RESUMED AT NEWPORT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, March 13.—Water lines broken during the first earthquake shock have been repaired and service resumed in all parts of the city. It was stated this morning by John Siegel, city street superintendent.

The grammar school electrical system was put out of commission and several walls were cracked, but it is not believed that the damage is extensive. School is closed pending a thorough inspection. The damage was distributed fairly evenly all over the city.

COSTA MESA GIRL CUT BY GLASS

COSTA MESA, March 13.—Miss Dorothy Van Dwyen, of Newport road, is recovering from severe cuts suffered Friday night, when she walked on broken glass in escaping from her home during the first earthquake shock.

Miss Van Dwyen was taking a bath at the time. The medicine cabinet was broken open and all of the contents fell to the floor. In her rush to get out of the room, she stepped on the glass. She was rushed to the office of Dr. H. Q. Willis but the interior of his office had been damaged so extensively that it was necessary to rush the patient to Santa Ana for treatment.

FIRE DISCOVERED AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, March 13.—Damage estimated at several hundred dollars to building and stock caused by a fire discovered at 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning in the plant of the South Coast News, a weekly newspaper in Laguna Beach owned by Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, and edited by Sumner Crosby. The building is owned by Joseph R. Jahraus and the loss is covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered by Clyde H. Smith, head of the composing room, who had stopped in the business office to telephone before leaving for Palm Springs. As he was leaving, John Francis Dupre, an artist who has a studio in the same building, asked Smith if there was a fire in the building. Smith made his way to the composing room, which he found filled with smoke. The firemen, under Chief P. J. Bushman, made short work of the fire, believed to have been started from wires damaged in the earthquake.

START REPAIRS ON ANAHEIM BUILDINGS

ANAHEIM, March 13.—With buildings in the business district only temporarily condemned, work will be started at once to repair all damages. R. Nyboe, building inspector stated this morning.

While the first inspection was thought to reveal more damage than was the actual case, subsequent investigation showed that in no case would the buildings have to be torn down. Most of the damage was done to fire walls. The four buildings that sustained the greatest harm was the S. Q. R. department store annex, the I. O. O. F. hall, the Shaw building and the old First National Bank building.

work that rapidly will be pushed forward. The damage is estimated at $10,000 by Inspector Nyboe.

The five buildings in the downtown district owned by Sam Kriemier of Placentia, were being inspected this morning by Lawrence Kramer, realtor. Work will be started at once on all necessary repairs.

Work was started this morning on Fremont school, M. A. Gauer, superintendent, stated this morning. Most of the damage was to the outside of the building. The work will be completed by the time schools are opened again.

NORTH ORANGE COUNTY SCHOOLS CLOSED

FULLERTON, March 13.—The earthquake Friday has resulted in the closing of North Orange county schools, for varying lengths of time. Besides schools being closed, public buildings of all kinds are closed to the public, including libraries and city offices.

A severe quake at about 5 a. m. today resulted in calls of school boards. At Yorba Linda the board determined to hold a vacation all week and call it the regular spring vacation, according to Mrs. Mabel Palmer, principal. The board convened at 3:30 a. m. today.

The Fullerton union high school and district junior college board has dismissed for the week. The buildings are in good shape, but owing to the repeated tremors, the fear of panic among crowds caused the closing order, according to Louis Plummer, principal.

Fullerton grammar schools have closed for the week, and will call this a vacation, according to Ray Green, principal.

The Orangothorpe school has declared vacation until at least Wednesday, and the Placentia grammar schools are closed for the day, anticipating a declaration of vacation when the board meets in regular session tonight.

More than 150 families, refugees from Long Beach, are being cared for at Fullerton. All organizations are combining to give shelter and food to the people, homes are opened and vacant houses have been opened and cleaned for the purpose of caring for those who have fled the stricken city.

The American Legion hall has been used as a place for feeding the homeless, and the Hillcrest park is a hive of activity with campers that have fled from Long Beach.

Service Clubs To Meet at Garage

Service clubs which meet at Kerner's cafe will meet this week, because of the damage done by the tremors, at Haan's garage, South Main and Myrtle streets, it was announced today.

These clubs include the Rotary club, which meets tomorrow; the Kiwanis club, which meets Wednesday, and the Lions club, which meets Thursday noon.

HERE AND THERE IN THE WAKE OF THE 'QUAKE

Friskish pranks were results of the tremors which have shaken Santa Ana. Some stores, next door to others which were badly damaged with all plate glass windows broken, sustained little harm. At Voseman's store on Fourth street, the only damage which occurred was the breaking of one dish out of the huge stock of dishes and crockery which is in the store.

Mrs. Sleeper, wife of county assessor James L., has added another blessing to her list for next Thanksgiving Day. Her bed in the Sleeper residence at 316 Cypress avenue is a shambles today as the result of a falling chimney, toppled over by the 11 p. m. tremor Friday. By a stroke of fortune she was not in it. Mrs. Sleeper attributes this fortuitous circumstance to a new local affliction: "earthquake insomnia."

All surprises for Dr. John D. Ball did not end with the general upheaval Friday night. Returned to his home at 2308 Oakmont street Saturday evening, Dr. Ball was shocked and disconcerted to discover the chimney of which he had boasted, rather freely reduced to a pile of bricks—on his front lawn. Investigation disclosed that the deed was not the work of the earthquake per se, but of a helpful sub-agent, Oliver L. Halsell, who, with the aid of a workman, had hitched a rope to the chimney and to a truck, and driven off. The offending chimney, it appeared, had developed faults which made its removal advisable.

Found: the proper supplies to carry in case of earthquake. At least here is one version. Mrs. Arthur H. Lyon of North Broadway was visiting a cousin in Los Angeles Friday evening at earthquake-time. Feeling the shock the cousin hastily grabbed a suitcase and loaded it with two pairs of shoes and a loaf of bread.

Five hardy banqueters with appetites for anything showed up at the Davis Kathryn Tea Shoppe Friday night to fill a six o'clock Liberal Arts dinner engagement. Places had been prepared for 40.

ONLY NOMINAL DAMAGE DONE AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT BEACH, March 13.—Newport-Balboa are generally loathe to disappoint visitors to this community, but during the past week-end they were delighted to do so. Beginning Saturday morning inlanders began to invade the beach town to view at first hand the "wreckage left by earthquake and tidal wave." But about all they could see suggesting wreckage were some bricks, which had fallen from a few buildings, dashed off and stacked in four or five small piles. Some dozen or so windows had been unable to withstand the seismologically-induced jitter, but the glassy fragments had been swept up and the apertures boarded over.

Several chimneys had fallen down, and two or three more pulled down for safety's sake. A few other chimneys will be repaired. As to a tidal wave, the earthquake had failed to disturb the usual equanimity to the slightest degree. In fact no one here was appreciably alarmed before some radio stations began to emit a flood of misinformation and un-sound advice. To hear that Long Beach had burned up and that there were 500 dead in that city alone unsettled the nerves of many, and when advice came to flee to the hills it was generally followed.

About 11 o'clock Saturday evening the beach people, from their chilly vantage on the bluffs, began to return to their undamaged homes. There they were allowed to remain undisturbed till shortly after 11 the next morning, when another radio oracle foretold the coming of a terrible earthquake between noon and 12:30. Back to the hills went most of the faithful, to return again, most of them, at 12:31. Where the terrible earthquake and tidal wave went, no one has been able to discover, for neither appeared here.

ONLY NOMINAL DAMAGE DONE AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT BEACH, March 13.—Newport-Balboa are generally loathe to disappoint visitors to this community, but during the past week-end they were delighted to do so. Beginning Saturday morning inlanders began to invade the beach town to view at first hand the "wreckage left by earthquake and tidal wave." But about all they could see suggesting wreckage were some bricks, which had fallen from a few buildings, dashed off and stacked in four or five small piles. Some dozen or so windows had been unable to withstand the seismologically-induced jitter, but the glassy fragments had been swept up and the apertures boarded over.

Several chimneys had fallen down, and two or three more pulled down for safety's sake. A few other chimneys will be repaired. As to a tidal wave, the earthquake had failed to disturb the usual equanimity to the slightest degree. In fact no one here was appreciably alarmed before some radio stations began to emit a flood of misinformation and un-sound advice. To hear that Long Beach had burned up and that there were 500 dead in that city alone unsettled the nerves of many, and when advice came to flee to the hills it was generally followed.

About 11 o'clock Saturday evening the beach people, from their chilly vantage on the bluffs, began to return to their undamaged homes. There they were allowed to remain undisturbed till shortly after 11 the next morning, when another radio oracle foretold the coming of a terrible earthquake between noon and 12:30. Back to the hills went most of the faithful, to return again, most of them, at 12:31. Where the terrible earthquake and tidal wave went, no one has been able to discover, for neither appeared here.

MADDOO SEEKS FIVE MILLION FOR SOUTHLAND

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 13.—(UP)—Immediate steps toward obtaining emergency relief funds for Southern California's earthquake area will be taken at a conference today between Governor James Rolph, Jr., and A. W. McMillan, western representative of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Urgent need of the earthquake area will be outlined before the conference by members of the Governor's Emergency Relief council, who are on the disaster scene. The council and city authorities of Long Beach will meet before noon and discuss huge problems of reconstruction and financing thereof, the Governor was advised.

Meantime the rank and file of citizenry in the damaged towns viewed with renewed alarm the apparently increasing intensity of the "settling quakes."

"Settling Quakes"
After every disastrous temblor in the state's history, including the San Francisco and Santa Barbara catastrophes, a series of "settling quakes," diminishing regularly in intensity, followed the initial heavy shock.

Thus far, seismologists estimated, more than 1000 separate "settling quakes" have rolled northward across the Los Angeles-Long Beach-San Pedro triangle.

Minor tremors occur almost hourly, but of late the graph has been punctuated by heavy, jolting shocks.

The new series began at 10 p. m. Saturday. A second shock occurred at 10:30. Sunday morning at 8:16 a short, swift jerk brought weary Long Beach to its feet in alarm. Sunday night at 8:27 a persistent roller moved up from Long Beach to and through Los Angeles.

Traveling speed of the quakes can be measured. In a long distance conversation, Vincent Mahoney, United Press staff correspondent at Long Beach, told A. W. Edwards, night manager at Los Angeles, that a temblor was rocking Long Beach. Two seconds later Edwards clocked the same quake in Los Angeles.

Despite popular fear that the tremors were increasing in intensity, Dr. H. O. Wood of the Carnegie institute at Pasadena, and other eminent seismologists, asserted the affected area merely legislature as it assembled for the seventh week of its 50th session today.

Legislative leaders indicated both houses would quickly take necessary steps towards speedy enactment of earthquake relief legislation. No program has been drawn up, however. The legislature is awaiting recommendations of the governor's emergency relief council.

When devised, the program probably will be sponsored by the Southern California delegations in both houses. Already, the assembly delegation from the southern part of the state has met and discussed the situation generally. This group pledged itself to support any logical and merited relief program.

Charles W. Grubbs, Los Angeles, announced last night he was preparing a resolution urging the legislature to divert revenue available for statewide relief, to the earthquake area. The resolution will be introduced shortly after the legislature assembles.

Stubbed Toe Saved His Life

A stub on the toe is worth two in the neck in the opinion of an unidentified Gentleman of Costa Mesa, who is making daily oblations to the toe in question as the result of its distinguished service on the night of Friday, March 10 at 5:55 p. m.

The gentleman was making purchases in a grocery store in his home town at the time of the initial earthquake. The first quiver sent him bounding for the door in pursuit of the great out of doors—and safety. Just as he reached the portal his toe played him what appeared at the moment to be a fatal trick. He sprawled headlong, a pursuing comrade falling over him from behind. At the same instant a shower of brick crashed to the sidewalk from the roof of the grocery store right on the spot previously picked by the gentleman for his escape.

Today both men were agreed on one point: It was a Happy Landing.

was sustaining the normal settling quakes which eventually will die out.

Damage estimates were compiled by the United Press today from the following sources:

Long Beach
Long Beach—Charles S. Henderson, reconstruction dictator, wired Governor James Rolph at Sacramento asking the legislature immediately to appropriate $500,000 for emergency food supplies.

D W Pontius, president of the Pacific Electric Railway and member of the governor's disaster relief committee, estimated property damage at $25,000,000. Later, Henderson said current estimates "ranched to $50,000,000."

Long Beach Press-Telegram surveyed the suburban area and estimated the additional damage at $10,800,000.

A conservative average of the total, drawn from the above sources, would be about $40,000,000.

Other estimates and sources from which United Press obtained the figures:

Huntington Park—$2,500,000. Stephen F. O'Donnell, publisher of The Signal.

Compton (practically wiped out)—$2,000,000. Civic and police authorities.

Los Angeles—$12,000,000. Based on resolution before board of supervisors asking $10,000,000 R.F.C. loan to rebuild court house and estimated damage of $2,000,000 to public school system. Latter estimate by board of education.

Santa Ana—$750,000. Authorities ask R. F. C. loan in that amount.

Huntington Beach—$500,000. Elementary school valued at a half million was practically demolished.

Wilmington, Watts, Garden Grove and other communities—total estimate of $1,000,000.

Total of available estimates to date—$58,000,000.

A survey made by the United Press of the east side residential district in Long Beach indicated 85 per cent of the homes had sustained visible exterior damage, ranging from caved in roofs and shifted foundations to total demolition.

Almost without exception the residential community was encamped out of doors, on front lawns and parking. Cots, bedding and stoves, salvaged in cautious forays into the homes, were visible on lawns and between palm trees everywhere.

A suggestion to residents who owned wood or stucco bungalows—anything except brick—to move indoors to resume normal living was issued by the Long Beach rehabilitation committee through its chairman, Charles S. Henderson.

The appeal was sidetracked, however, when Will F. Prisk, newspaper publisher, suggested that the committee should not assume the responsibility for such a recommendation until the damaged homes had been inspected individually as to safety.

First mail to be delivered in Long Beach since the disaster was ready for distribution today. Both postoffice structures were wrecked and two clerks killed. The department's personnel, however, established an open air postoffice in a vacant lot and spent Sunday "working" thirty-seven accumulated sacks of mail.

The mail sacks, previously held at Los Angeles, contained many postal money orders addressed to impoverished quake victims. The new $300,000 main postoffice building, to have been opened July 1, sustained interior damage which may postpone the completion date by many months.

Schools at Los Angeles and Long Beach will remain closed at least until March 20, to permit necessary repairs to buildings, the boards of education announced today.

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous cathartics do without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets brings no gripping pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound. You will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 50c, 60c.—Adv.

SPOTLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sheila Shayne, 18, who parents were well known vaudeville actors, is in New York looking for a job. Sheila is a dancer. In spite of the fact that she has spent almost her entire life on the stage her ambition is to marry and have a home like those she has seen in small towns in which she has played.

On a few hours' notice she is to take the place of Daisy Gleason, another dancer, who has sprained an ankle. She goes to Joe Paris' office in "Tin Pan Alley" to rehearse. There she meets Trevor Lane and Dick Stanley, both rich. Lane asks Sheila to dance at a party he is giving but she refuses, knowing that after a day of rehearsing and the performance that night she will be too tired.

Sheila goes to the theater. The show begins and she wins applause with her dancing. Suddenly she discovers Dick Stanley in the audience. He waits for her after the show and again urges her to dance. Lane, however, is against her better judgment she agrees.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

Sheila heard that ripple of laughter. She did not turn and so she did not learn the speaker's identity. But the words brought a chill about her heart. "Dick's girls are always pretty," the unknown woman had said. Of course such a young man as Dick Stanley must know many girls. He must be in constant demand at parties and dinners where there were usually lovely, graceful, beautifully groomed young women.

And say what you would clothes did make a difference! Look at what they could do for a newly discovered movie star. They had changed Norma Seabury in one short year from a pretty, ordinary little Brooklyn girl to a suave, sophisticated beauty, who knew how to walk and talk, to rise from a chair and sit down.

These girls who were Trevor Lane's guests were not like Norma. Their glamour was more natural, less affected. They had been born to this life of luxury.

Sheila looked about her at the blond, black and titian heads, the gleaming white shoulders accented against the trim black coats of the men. Some were dancing, some chatting. Laughter broke forth and trickled across the room in gentle, well-modulated ripples. Then the brilliant rustle of voices was suddenly hushed.

"There's a clever little girl for you," Dick was saying, clapping as he did so. Following his eyes toward a Japanese screen which half concealed a door into another room. Sheila waited expectantly. She had not heard the announcement, which had prompted Dick's words. Another little dart of jealousy shot through her. Here obviously was an entertainer of whom Dick approved.

A hush fell and the girl stood before them. She was slender, not very tall, dressed in flesh-colored tights and a jeweled bodice. A silken fringe circled her waist. Her dark eyes sparkled in the delicate, piquant little face beneath a lovely pink silk wig. She looked almost like a small boudoir doll. It was Frances Barton, the eccentric dancer.

Frances was the best in her line—the originator of a dozen routines so difficult that only a few of her imitators could follow them. She had been in half a dozen Broadway shows and was in one now. Like Sheila, she had come to the party following the performance.

Sheila saw Dick Stanley's eyes light and his smile flash. His gaze was as ardent, as eager as it had been when he had turned toward Sheila herself. Hotly she told herself that to Dick Stanley she was just another girl. How could she have been so foolish as to believe that he was interested in her? Just because he had taken the trouble to call for her at the theater?

"She's great, isn't she?" Dick was saying, unconscious of the tumult he had caused in Sheila's heart. "You must meet her. I know you'll like her."

"Do you know her well?" Sheila asked. "Know her? I should say I do. Let's move forward. You don't want to miss this bit."

"I know her, too," Sheila said, trying to keep her voice steady. "And she is good, isn't she? There's no one else on the stage who can touch her. Frances is in a class by herself."

Dick eyed Sheila almost tenderly. "That's generous," he said, "from another dancer. Dancers are generous. But of course—hastily—"you aren't the same kind of dancers. You are about the best I've seen in your line, you know."

Sheila laughed a little dubiously. That's generous too. Thank you. But I can't compare with Frances. That routine would slay me in a week. It just can't be done by anyone else."

She had always admired Frances Barton and even in this moment hoped that she had not minimized the effect the other girl's talent always had on her.

It was cheap—this jealousy—even though no one knew of it but herself. Why should she be jealous of the interest of a young man she had known less than 14 hours? Was it really only 14 hours ago that she had first seen Dick Stanley?

All day long she had thought of him, not as "that agreeable Mr. Stanley" or as "Mr. Stanley" at all, but as Dick. Trevor Lane had thus addressed him and Sheila had thought at the time that it was an appropriate name.

She was standing close beside him now. Tall, charming, with that delightful smile crinkling his nose, Dick was just a name. How well did Frances know Dick?

A clamor of applause went up as the girl began one of the most intricate parts of the dance. She was delightfully graceful. Frances swayed like a lily on its stem, bent almost unbelievably and yet attractively too. She turned amazing somersaults, righting her slender body with agile grace. Presently, amidst clapping of hands, she glided, bounding towards the audience on tiptoe and back again. Frances blew a kiss, light as thistle-down, pranced on her toes and fluttered out of sight.

It was indeed a pretty picture. One moment she was there, posing, smiling. Then she was gone. Instantly everyone was talking.

ing figure of a man," as Ma would always say, with a sigh for Timmy's sightless eyes.

"That's fine. Yes, of course I'll sing. Maybe one or two of Timmy's own songs."

"Great. Perhaps you'll want to primp a bit—you look most charming but nearly everyone does—before facing the battery."

He directed a servant to show Miss Shayne the dressing room from which she could emerge near the piano and save an embarrassing walk through the glittering rooms.

Smiling Sheila turned from Dick. To be sure this was what she had come for. She was an entertainer. It was true that Dick had called for her at the theater but very likely he was as glad now of the opportunity to escape her. If after she sang he did not join her—

But Dick was still at her side when she reached the dressing room door. "You aren't nervous?" he asked.

"Nervous?" Sheila's low laughter rang out. She was exultant again. "Oh, but you forget that I was practically born on the stage. I'm more nervous talking to you than singing to a crowd."

"Then you're in for a lot of nervousness tonight," Dick laughed. "I'm going to talk to you a lot. That's a threat!"

Two girls on a nearby divan spied Dick then and halted him. Bowing to Sheila, he was gone. (To Be Continued)

1 JAR RESINOL HEALED SEVERE ECZEMA

"More than 35 years ago, when I was a child, I developed a severe case of eczema behind my left ear. In spite of all the remedies used the disease spread rapidly over my head. Finally our doctor, one of the best in Kansas City, told Mother to try Resinol Ointment as he knew it was good. It was wonderful and after using a full jar the affection was entirely healed. Since then I have been an ardent user of Resinol for burns, cuts, and all manner of skin affections, and have never known it to fail. There is nothing like it for the skin disorders of babies, it is so soothing and healing." (Signed) Mrs. O. S. Platt, 297 Carrollton Ave., Shreveport, Louisiana.

EYE WITNESS GIVES GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF SCENES IN STRICKEN BEACH DISTRICT

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Multiply by a hundred all the wreckage piled on the streets of Santa Ana's downtown business district; substitute for Santa Ana's orderly, quiet residential streets, long rows of houses crushed down on their foundations, their sides torn out, their rooms thrown wide to the public gaze, their once cherished furnishings broken and shattered; replace Santa Ana's school buildings with shapeless heaps of broken bricks, mortar and comices, and you will have some idea of the devastation that rules in Long Beach.

There is what seemed to be the center of this latest disturbance of the earth's crust, wreckage and desolation now hold sway, such desolation as we in this city, can scarcely picture.

Naturally the city is closed to the outside world. Its problems are too great to be complicated by the presence of a horde of curious onlookers. But when business and mercy took Sheriff Logan Jackson and District Attorney S. B. Kaufman to Long Beach Saturday afternoon with W. Lester Tubbs as driver of the official car, it was made possible for members of The Register staff to go with them, and gain at first hand some idea of the horrors of a situation that is almost beyond the power of words to describe.

It is a peaceful countryside through which one approaches the city. The first sinister note is sounded long before the actual borders of the city are reached, when the way is barred by a stern faced military guard, fully armed. There was no question of the official car's passage, but the way was effectively barred for any automobile not on such official business.

Chaos Reigns
Once within the precincts of the city, and the scene was changed. Gone was the sense of serenity. Chaos reigned supreme. The large school building at the right of the road, stood in the midst of a mass of bricks and wreckage, the brick wall that bound its grounds lying flat in a welter of dust and mortar.

Buildings in the district were shattering and of light construction, filling stations and small neighborhood stores. Some were standing crazily on their foundations, others were only piles of twisted and shattered timbers. On into the more populated districts. Big markets stood forlornly open to all the minds of heaven, the contents of once orderly shelves and vegetable bins scrambled into a mess of dirt and wreckage.

A small confectionery store where neighborhood children must have gathered for lollipops and ice cream cones, was filled literally to its ceiling with bricks from its two higher neighboring buildings, a crushed roof acting as a funnel through which the bricks had poured. A bank, probably the pride of that little outlying business district, had only the gold letters on one unbroken door hanging by a few bolts, and a marble counter left standing.

Plant Destroyed
A big bakery plant was in even more hopeless ruins, for fire had come to complete the devastation which the earthquake had started. Little homes alternated with apartment houses. But those little homes will be homes no more. Frame, brick or concrete, they were hopeless as dwellings for human beings. Many looked as though they had been lifted high in the air by giant hands and then crushed down so forcibly on their foundations that if walls remained standing at all, one would have to step down to enter a door that was there no longer.

Perhaps a home looked fairly intact, and then another glance showed a whole fire place literally

BODY LINKED TO BEHAVIOR OF CHILDREN

Debunking many fondly cherished theories of posture, Dr. Regina Westcott-Wieman gave a talk on bodily structure and its effects on child behavior problems before the class in parent education Friday morning at Francis Willard.

"Many problems go back to the structure of the body. The growing child needs short but frequent rest periods so that he may have the vitality to achieve correct posture," she said.

Poor physical condition often excludes a child from group activities and Dr. Wieman illustrated how such exclusion might cause a serious case of maladjustment. Throughout history we have made many serious errors in the matter of heating our homes, according to the speaker, who pointed out that this is considered injurious because the skin needs a greater range of temperature, that it may get exercise. Dr. Wieman indicated modern homes are not built for either physical or mental comfort and said that doubtless Martian visitors would view them with derision.

The antidote for emotional disturbance is physical activity and for an upset child large, muscular activity was advised. "Talk of depression and disagreement between parents may keep a child in a continual funk. Too much pleasure can also keep a child over-disturbed," she stated.

Statistics show that we have less sickness and fewer deaths during periods of depression and Dr. Wieman explained this as being due to less intelligence and more physical activity, mostly enforced by economic needs.

BUILDERS CHANGE PLACE OF MEETING

Because of the damage caused in Santa Ana by the earthquake, the monthly meeting of the Orange County Builders' Exchange will be held in Fullerton at McFarland's cafe at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow night instead of in Santa Ana. It was announced today in a special membership bulletin issued by Fred Sanford, secretary of the Exchange.

Members of the Engineers' club and the Dump Truck association will be guests of the Exchange at the meeting.

Secretary Sanford today announced that several members of the Orange County Builders' Exchange will attend the state building convention in the Alexandria hotel, Los Angeles, on March 17 and 18. Important legislation will be discussed, he said.

GROUP MEETS IN VILLA PARK HOME

VILLA PARK, March 13.—Mrs. Walter M. Tipton was hostess recently to members of the Priscilla club at her home on Center drive. Wild mustard blooms were used in decoration, and a very pleasant meeting was held. After a short business meeting, fancy work and conversation occupied the attention of the ladies. Late in the afternoon, the hostess served lunch with fruit salad, sandwiches of orange bread and coffee. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John R. Ragan.

Those who enjoyed Mrs. Tipton's hospitality included Mrs. Ed Stanley, Mrs. John F. Allen, Mrs. George L. Carricker of Orange, Mrs. H. D. Nichols, Mrs. Art Strech, Mrs. William J. Sutherland, Mrs. Roy Adams, Mrs. Roseann, Mrs. W. J. Rasmussen, Mrs. Ralph W. Crozen, Mrs. Louis DeLong, Mrs. John R. Ragan, Mrs. Homer E. Baker, Mrs. H. H. Gardner, Miss Elizabeth Lee, of Orange; the hostess, Mrs. Tipton, has as her house guest, Mrs. J. C. Ansel of Alpine, who was a guest at the club meeting.

Columbus set sail on Friday, left the Canaries on Friday, and began his return voyage on Friday.

It was when the station was no longer possible for them that the equipment was transferred to the police car, and the brave messages of cheer continued.

This is merely a hazy picture of the city as it appeared to casual inspection. The thousand scenes of terror, sorrow, personal bravery, courage, friendliness and optimism cannot be transferred to paper. But they are printed indelibly on the hearts of humanity.

Societies Hold All Day Session

An all day meeting of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies was held in the Methodist Episcopal church parlors Thursday. The business session was conducted by the presidents of each society, Mrs. J. C. Arkley and Mrs. George Ryburn.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. William Schnitzer, Mrs. S. S. Jackson and Mrs. Fred Andres to 17 members. The tables were decorated with bowls of sweet peas in pastel shades.

The Home society was in charge of the program in the afternoon. Mrs. S. R. Fitz gave a chapter from the study book, "Lady Fourth Daughter." Devotions were led by Mrs. J. M. Chilson.

WASHINGTON

INCOME TAX
The first income tax payment under the new law will be made March 15. It may aggregate $250,000,000 due to increased rates. The June payment may be as much as $250,000,000, perhaps much less. The Treasury figures income has shrunk just about in proportion to increase in tax, so that this year's tax should equal that collected last year.

Budget estimate for the fiscal year 1933 was for $860,000,000 in taxes, at the new rates.

The present situation is so tight that the Treasury will have trouble getting any new money.

BANKERS
Senator Copeland of New York is not enthusiastic over the showing financial leaders have made. "If the bankers of this country had been doctors," the Senator who wears an M. D. after his name, declared, "we'd all be dead."

BIZZY
Parrying a question asked by a newspaper man, President Roosevelt said: "Go ask Will Woodin."

"He's too busy," the correspondent replied.

PRESS
No President has ever started more auspiciously with the press. The correspondents were so delighted with the result of their first conference that they applauded President Roosevelt roundly at its conclusion.

President Roosevelt did away with written questions. He allowed newspaper men to question him without the slightest restriction. He could hardly have been more frank. The President trusted the Washington correspondents to the limit.

About 250 turned out for the first gathering. Someone remarked the meeting should have been held in the East Room. That's where the big public receptions are staged.

Heretofore newspaper men have been herded into the presence of a new executive without any particular introduction. President Roosevelt insisted upon having each correspondent presented to him personally. J. Russell Young of the Washington Star made the introductions. The President repeated vigorously.

"It was the finest press conference I ever attended," one handed old Washington correspondent remarked. This sentiment was enthusiastically re-echoed by other veteran writers.

REDS
Much has been printed about Eleanor blue but one morning last week there was a decided change of colors. Mrs. Roosevelt wore a tailored gown of garnet red. Mrs. Dall her daughter wore garnet red. And President Roosevelt's stenographer wore exactly the same color.

GENEVA
The League of Nations is in deep water at Geneva. Gloomy reports have been laid before President Roosevelt. Only if he can bring about close Anglo-American co-operation is there hope for untangling world affairs. 1933 may appear on the gravestone of all the progress made since the war in building for international peace.

RADIO
The forgotten radio companies—the small ones—are slated to draw a new deal of their own.

During the campaign friction with the big companies was not rare. A revamping of the Radio Commission suggested itself automatically.

Col. Guernsey Cross, official secretary to Mr. Roosevelt while governor of New York, is in line to be appointed.

DENMARK
Ruth Bryan Owen would rather be senator from Florida than Minister to Denmark. Richard Crane of Westover, Mass. is in prospect to make Copenhagen his home.

CANADA
Warren Delano Robbins, Chief of Protocols under Secretary Stimson would like to be an ambassador. Canada would suit but his close relationship to the president may bar the way. Raymond T. Baker, former director of the mint, is likely to go instead.

UNWORRIED
If President Roosevelt is unduly concerned over the financial crisis he has the best poker face in America. To hear him, talk one might imagine he did not have a trouble on earth.

ROOSEVELINI
Friends of the new president are very deliberately avoiding putting him in the role of a national hero at this early date. Nevertheless they make it evident that they regard him as a Man of Destiny. They point to his courage, his clarity, his directness and his brevity.

One admirer characterized F. R. as the "Smiling Mussolini of America."

CONGRESS
After the new Congress frames the emergency banking legislation it will recess for two or three weeks while more permanent legislation is being drafted.

TRIUMPH
Mrs. Curtis Dall already has scored a personal triumph in Washington.

She will become better known to the country through a series of radio talks for which she is to receive real money. Maybe as much as $3000 each. Possibly more. Mrs. Roosevelt received $5000.

In the meantime Mrs. Dall has become a tremendously popular young woman in capital social circles in her own right.

SPIRIT
No matter how hard the blows or how hard they come, the financial crisis proved once more that Americans are naturally cheerful. "Oh, well, if we starve, we all starve together," or "Everyone else is in the same fix, why worry?" are the usual comments around Washington.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

FEDERAL RESERVE
Authorities of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York were largely responsible for the plan to issue a new type of Federal Reserve currency instead of taking care of emergency needs with Clearing House script. The new plan offers better control of the currency and permits the Federal Reserve system to perform its central banking function much more effectively than earlier projects.

You can also paste it in your hat that the Federal Reserve banks—not the Federal government—will handle any guarantees of bank deposits that are authorized. This shift of responsibility would accomplish a double purpose. It would be an effective method of inducing State banks to become members of the Federal Reserve system and thereby submit to national authority. It would also avert any possible damage to the government credit.

POLICY
The administration policy now looks definitely headed toward a sorting out of banks according to their individual merits. Sound banks will gradually be permitted to resume their normal functions; partly solvent banks will be opened with strict limitations; and unsound banks will simply not be allowed to reopen at all. The latter will not be permitted to fall openly for some time at least, but they will be kept from cluttering up the banking structure. Informed New York is all in favor of the idea.

It would be no surprise if the Glass-Steagall bill were amended to permit issuance of Federal Reserve notes against a 25-25 per cent minimum gold cover as against the present 100 per cent requirement. This is locally rated a sound substitute for dollar devaluation—which is not in prospect. The local view is that an 80 per cent gold cover would do no good under present conditions and that we might as well have the advantages of the smaller base. The main consideration—anchoring the dollar to a stable foundation—will still be fulfilled.

European reactions to this lowering of gold cover requirements are expected to cheapen the dollar in terms of foreign currency. This would be considered an advantage rather than a drawback in debt and tariff negotiations.

FINANCING
This same reduction of gold cover requirement would loosen up the assets of the Federal Reserve banks to the point where they would be in a position to handle the Treasury's March 15th financing requirements by themselves if necessary. Such a solution would save Mr. Woodin a lot of headaches.

GOLD
You can get even money in the financial district that France will abandon the gold basis within a week or so. Authorities do not believe she can stand the strain of maintaining full gold payments unpaid. The betting is strong that the United States will not return to the gold basis in international transactions for a long time to come.

BOOMERANG
The strenuous British efforts to keep the pound down in terms of foreign exchange have put England on the frying-pan. Inside advice indicates that the bulk of the British stabilization fund has been trapped in a short position with no way of getting out except by taking heavy losses. Britain would have a hard time covering if delivery were demanded.

GERMANY
Many people here and abroad don't understand why Hindenburg has yielded more and more to Hitler, in recent weeks. The following explanation comes from a member of his official family.

The holocaust torch-light procession of Nazis on the night of January 30th which filled for hours past the Chancellery where Hindenburg and Hitler took the salute (from widely separated windows) affected the old President tremendously. In the words of the informant, "Hindenburg broke down completely."

He has never been the same since. His stern vigor seems to have vanished suddenly. He will sign anything which his secretary Meisner submits to him. Meisner has done more to smooth Hitler's way than all other intermediaries combined.

CONQUEST
Japan is moving behind the scenes as rapidly as in the field.

On the first of this month some two hundred leaders met in Tokyo and organized the Pan Asiatic Association. This is to be the cornerstone of an attempt to formulate an Asiatic League of Nations. It will be based on racial and cultural affinities. Japan anticipates having the role of guiding power. She has studied Britain's place of influence at Geneva.

Friendly overtures to gain China's cooperation are well under way. China knows now how little besides a few kind words and a glass of water the West can give her. Japan offers power.

A world race conflict presently is forbidden by Orientalists.

KIWANIS CLUB PARTY TO BE HELD THURSDAY

The first social gathering of the year will be staged by the Santa Ana Kiwanis club at the Ebell clubhouse next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. It was announced today by the committee in charge of the event.

The evening will be designated as "Guest Night" and members of the club will bring guests without charge. Arrangements have been made for an extended program of entertainment.

The Santa Ana Women's octette, composed of the well known local musical talent, will present a group of numbers. A snappy one-act comedy will also be presented. The entertainment will be given in the auditorium, at 8 p. m.

Cards will be played, including auction, contract bridge and other games. In the Peacock room following the entertainment, Harvey House refreshments will be served.

Members of the committee in charge of the event are Otto Haan, Fred Crowell, Dr. H. M. Currey, Fred Newcomb, Orlyn Robertson, chairman, and wives of committee members.

Fullerton club will pay the Santa Ana club an inter-club visit at the regular meeting Wednesday noon when the Fullerton group will present the program.

Larranaga Winner of Cuban Handicap

HAVANA, March 12.—(UP)—Allan A. Ryan's Larranaga established a New Oriental park record for the mile-and-a-quarter in winning the $50,000-added Cuban National Handicap yesterday, the richest stake ever run in the island republic.

Wrestling winners money, $39,150, by a length from Mrs. F. A. Carrand's Kipsen, the only mare in the field, Larranaga registered 2:03 to clip three-fifths of a second from the mark set by Heron in 1921.

TEXANS BEAT MIDWICK
LOS ANGELES, March 12.—(UP)—Cecil Smith's Austin, Tex., polo team nosed out a Midwick four headed by Elmer Boeseke by a 13 to 12 score at Midwick yesterday. Smith scored nine goals himself, and passed to J. B. Gilmore for two more. Neil McCarthy contributed seven of the losers scores.

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—(UP)—Manager Bill Terry gave his own New York Giants a 10 to 7 victory over the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley field yesterday when he led a home run in the last of the ninth inning with two men on base and the score tied, 10 to 10. The Cubs met the Los Angeles Coast league team today.

PASADENA — There is nothing wrong with Al Simmons despite the fact that he only hit once in 10 trips to the plate up to yesterday. Against the Pasadena Merchants yesterday, Al got three for three, including a home run and a walk to help the Chicago White Sox to a 9 to 2 victory.

Earthquake Halts S. A. Sports Events

BOOTS, TRACK, BASEBALL OFF AFTER TREMOR

The earthquake moved buildings, shook houses and agitated citizens—but it paralyzed Santa Ana's program of week-end sports.

Two track meets, involving Santa Ana high school and junior college, were called off Saturday.

So was a baseball game between the Dons and Compton. The "moratorium" will extend to boxing Tuesday night. Promoter S. A. Sampson and Matchmaker Kid Mexico of the Orange County Athletic club have called off this week's show. The Delhi arena suffered only slight damage, but Sampson and Mexico believe that flustered followers will prefer home to a boxing club for the next few nights.

Santa Ana's Hi's coast league track meet with Long Beach Poly, scheduled for the Santa Ana oval last Saturday, was indefinitely postponed. While the status of Long Beach as a future competitor is of course unknown at this time, it is probable that the Jackrabbits will withdraw from competition in all sports until fall. There were reports that several Long Beach athletes were injured in the quake but these could not be verified by The Register.

Coach "Chuck" Webber had arranged a dual meet Tuesday with Fullerton as a replacement for the Long Beach affair, but called this off at noon today when he learned that the public schools would be closed all week. Saint trackmen will remain in training, however, and will participate in the annual Southern Counties Invitational at Huntington Beach Saturday, Webber said.

The Jaysee dual meet between Santa Ana and San Bernardino was postponed from Saturday until tomorrow at the request of Coach Bill Cook of the Dons. Santa Ana's athletes could not be mobilized for the affair.

A non-conference ball game between Santa Ana Jaysee and Compton, of course, he cancelled. Compton was hit by the tremor fully as hard as Long Beach, and it is understood that athletes there have been indefinitely postponed.

Orange County Winter league baseball games proceeded according to schedule yesterday, Hancock Oil playing at Huntington Beach and Laguna Beach meeting Santa Ana here. An independent contest between Carl Ruecker's Santa Ana Merchants and a Los Angeles club was called off.

BOWLING

COLUMBUS, O., March 12.—(INS)—Three new five-man teams were chalked up in the big ten standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament today as 56 more Columbus booster squads prepared to tackle the championship playoffs tonight.

Tapping out a total of 2669, the Cincinnati Heaters of New Philadelphia, slipped into second place in the standings, while Storage Batteries of Conshohocken, topped the pins for a score of 2625 to land in sixth place.

SMILES IN SPORTS

"Dazzy" Vance was at bat. The first ball pitched whizzed close to his ear and he fell back.

"Let him have the next one on the beam," yelled Bill Terry at first base. Another came high, inside, and Vance had to duck. "Hit him with the next one," shouted Travis Jackson at shortstop.

Vance had to fall flat to avoid the third one. And from Freddy Lindstrom at third base came this: "One more chance—kay-o him with this one!"

RUTH REMAINS HOLDOUT; YANK OFFER $50,000

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—Babe Ruth and Col. Jacob Ruppert held their long-awaited conference over the home run hitter's salary today but failed to agree to terms.

"Ruth is still unsigned," Ruppert said as he quit the meeting held in Manager Joe McCarthy's office at Miller Huggins Field.

"My original offer of $50,000 still stands. Ruth can take that any time before the start of the season."

Ruth was asked for his version of the conference.

"You heard Col. Ruppert," he replied. "That's all there is fellows; Jake's told you everything."

SAN FRANCISCO.—The San Francisco Seals pointed their training today at their first Coast league competition, scheduled for Thursday night when they meet Seattle at Santa Cruz. The Seals were yesterday, their scheduled exhibition game with the Cubs, being cancelled because of rain.

BILOXI, MISS.—The Atlanta Crackers hurled so many and such varied names at General Alvin Crowder yesterday when he umpired the exhibition game with the Washington Senators that Crowder, ace of the Senators' hurling staff, asked Manager Joe Cronin to let him pitch the next contest "to show them who I am."

MIAMI, FLA.—"Hack" Wilson, slugging outfielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was still a holdout to today when he was still in camp. Wilson set yesterday as the deadline for the Dodgers to come to terms, threatening to check out otherwise.

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA.—Infielder St. Bill Urbanski has surrendered his holdout against the Boston Braves and will sign his contract when Owner Judge Emil Fuchs arrives.

PHELAN'S TEAM SEEN AS TROY GRID OBSTACLE

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—(INS)—Who'll stop the Southern California Trojans in football? Coach James Phelan's University of Washington eleven?

Notre Dame? "Haw," says the Trojan undergraduate as Coach Howard Jones prepares to call his 1933 squad together for spring practice.

Experts declare, however, that if the Jones coached eleven is to be "stopped" this autumn, Washington, with wily Phelan at the helm again, and with a raft of veterans eager for another crack at El Trojan, seems to have the best chance.

Washington was beaten by the all-too-narrow margin of 9 and 6 by the champion Trojans last season, and appears primed to give the southern team the battle of the year in their annual game at Los Angeles December 9.

The late date of the Trojans and Huskies game would indicate that both teams have an eye focused high on the championship—as well as on gate receipts of a "last game."

Coach "Navy Bill" Ingram and his University of California Bears were picked last season to halt the Trojans, but after what happened to the Bears, it would appear that more than one season would be required for a proper comeback on the gridiron.

Little is known about Stanford's 1933 hopes. With Pop Warner, loser of Stanford's last five games to Southern California, now safely at Temple university, his successor, "Tiny" Thornhill, may achieve a miracle and turn out a winning combination in his first year.

The Trojans appear to have a current "jinx" on Notre Dame, and do not fear the game at South Bend, where the Ramblers were conquered 16 to 14 in a classic of 1931, and bowed 14 to 0 on the local lot last season.

At St. Mary's, Coach Edward "Slip" Madigan always has a fast resourceful eleven, and if Washington can't stop the fast rushing and powerful Trojans this autumn St. Mary's looks to be the next best bet.

PHOENIX, ARIZ., March 12.—(INS)—Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, today was enroute by train for New York for a two-day visit following which he will return to Chandler, Ariz., where he has been spending the winter with his wife and son.

Mrs. Tunney, recuperating from a recent illness and operation, remained at Chandler with "Little Gene."

Tunney admitted that the bank holiday had caught him short. He said he was using "scrip" consisting of his ordinary visiting card with "I. O. U." written on it.

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—(UP)—The New York Giants will return to Orange, Fla., for their 1934 spring training. It was reported on good authority here today. In the past two years the Giants have lost nearly $90,000 on their spring tour here.

The New York Yankees may replace the Giants as a coast attraction.

HANCOCK NINE TAKES SECOND HALF PENNANT

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—(INS)—Hancock Oil took the second-half championship of the Orange County Winter league, and stood an even chance of recovering the first-half flag, too, as a result of week-end developments.

The Oilers clinched first place at Huntington Beach Sunday by defeating Huntington Beach, 10 to 8. After the game, Dave Stewart, sponsor of the Huntington Beach organization, announced that his club, which had virtually clinched the unfinished first-half schedule, would withdraw from further competition.

This leaves the first half flag between Hancock Oil and Santa Ana, and these teams will meet in Santa Ana next Sunday. If the Oilers win, they will have the first-half championship as well as the latter part of the split season, and no further games will be necessary. If Santa Ana is successful, it will bag the second-half and qualify for a two-out-of-three playoff series for the streamer.

Huntington Beach sung its swansong by almost throwing the second-half into a more complicated situation. Hancock Oil ganged on "Moon" Mullins for five runs in the first inning and by the eighth had a 9-3 lead. In the last of that spasm, Huntington Beach showed Cliff Miller for five runs, making the count 9-8. The Santa Anas made it a 10-8 affair in their half of the ninth, and needed that run, too, because Clarence Hapes' triple in the last half of the round scored a run and brought Huntington Beach within range again.

Laguna Beach closed its season by spanking Santa Anita, 3-1. A two-run rally in the eighth broke up a brilliant pitcher's battle between Dunn and Estrada.

Cycle Riders Hurt In L. A. Race Spill

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—(UP)—Henry "Cocky" O'Brien, San Jose, and Eddie Testa, Los Angeles, leading bicycle riders, were injured during the running of a one-hour sprint at the Winter Garden last night.

Their cycles tangled and both riders landed in the spectator's seats. O'Brien sustained a fractured shoulder and internal injuries. Testa was less seriously hurt.

Tough Guy Freed on Murder Charge, "Curly" Guy Turns Fighter

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—(INS)—Loyal Beaver fans, however, pointed out that it was not so much better playing by the Trojans as it was power work by the Corvallis team that decided the game.

At least a dozen times lanky Ed Lewis, leading Northern scorer, sent the ball swirling around the basket's rim to fall outside. His teammates had similar trouble in finding the net. The smooth breaking-in for the basket, swift short passes, and recovery of the ball from the backboard was brought a 35-33 victory Friday night was revealed Saturday only in flashes.

The Trojans, on the other hand, had found a way to beat the Beaver zone defense. Little Jerry Nemer, who

CITIZENS UNITE FOR WORSHIP IN BIRCH PARK

United in a common crisis, Santa Ana church folk of 20 denominations sought Birch park yesterday morning for the first time within the memory of the presiding pastor. Seeking comfort in their affliction and assurance in their belief, more than 1000 worshippers left the park at the close of the service strengthened and newly resolved as the result of spiritual aid invoked by the common supplication of ten ministers.

The union service, called when plans for separate church exercises were abandoned, was conducted by the Santa Ana Ministerial association. On the platform with President E. W. Matz of the First Evangelical church sat the Rev. P. J. Schrock of the First Congregational church, senior minister and preacher for the day, who could not reveal a similar gathering in the 19 years of his local pastorate; Dr. George A. Warner, First Methodist church; the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, First Presbyterian; the Rev. Harry Evan Owens, First Baptist; the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, First Christian; the Rev. Samuel Edgar, Reformed Presbyterian; the Rev. C. M. Aker, Presbyterian Memorial Methodist; the Rev. Albert Eakin Kelly, United Presbyterian.

Dismissing an emotional appeal the Rev. Mr. Schrock preached simply and sanely of the "still small voice" which followed the wind and the earthquake and the fire and which, alone of the four Biblical phenomena, represented the spirit of God. He asked that in the new crisis his hearers petition with him for the grace and the power to be God's mouthpiece.

"Fear Not"

Basing his analogy upon the Biblical record of Elijah's experience on Mount Horeb, the Rev. Mr. Schrock endeavored to make vocal the "still small voice" and to surmise God's message in the present emergency. God's injunction, by his interpretation, was three-fold: "Fear not. Be honest. Be one; one in spirit; one in purpose; one in action."

"I am so certain," said the Rev. Mr. Schrock at the sermon's outset, "that God has a message for you and for me and for the thousands of citizens in this Southland, that I am inclined to say of my words today, 'Thus saith the Lord.'"

Elijah's experiences, identical in the case of the earthquake and the fire, proved strikingly applicable to the present situation. The wind was likened by the preacher to the force of financial disaster which has swept the land and broken "the rock of material value."

Applying himself to the task of re-interpreting the "still small voice," the Rev. Mr. Schrock, in expressing the first of the message's three appeals, declared fear as having been a major factor in all of the nation's recent catastrophes. He declared the conquest of fear entirely possible, and proposed as steps toward this end the development of a consciousness of God; the use of intelligence, and consideration for the other fellow.

While admitting one of the causes of the financial crash to have been a lack of fundamental honesty on the part of some of the leaders, the speaker pointed out that unscrupulousness among a larger number and a general greed for easy money had contributed to the debacle.

The speaker's final appeal was directed more particularly to the church people:

All Together

"It has taken an earthquake to bring us together," he began. "Here we are, all children of God, followers of the same Christ, working for the same Kingdom of God and Brotherhood of Man on Earth—met together in morning worship for the first time in at least 19 years. We are just realizing that the things which have brought us together are fundamental, and that the things which have kept us apart; church governments and creeds and ceremonies are unimportant. Perhaps this emergency will draw us closer to a common goal; perhaps the prayer of Jesus that all may be one will be answered."

In offering invocation, Dr. Warner asked that "we live not in the yesterday but in the tomorrow, and sought guidance for President Roosevelt in his current difficulties. The Rev. Mr. Owens, reading scripture, quoted Psalm 46, beginning, "God is our refuge and strength," and Mark 4:35-41, containing Christ's appeal, "Why are ye so fearful? how is it that ye have no faith?"

The Rev. Mr. Kelly gave the offertory prayer. Offering submitted in envelopes went to the churches designated. All other contributions will be handled by the ministerial association for relief work in Santa Ana, it was announced.

Frank Pierce, director of music at the First Christian church, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Morgan, sang Clarke's "The Blind Pilgrim," whose closing expression, "God, who took away my eyes that my soul might see," touched a responsive chord in his audience. Hymns were led by Pierce and accompanied by Mrs. Snow, organist of the First Methodist church. The Rev. Mr. Matz presided, benediction being uttered by the Rev. Mr. Edgar.

Aid Offered To Victims At Clemente

San Clemente, having played a big part already in extending and offering facilities of the hospital and city to those injured or made refugees as a result of the earthquakes, today announced, through Ole Hanson, builder of the city, that additional facilities are available in the city.

Many victims of the quake are being cared for in the San Clemente hospital, having been rushed there from Long Beach. Now there is room for 64 more at hotels and rooming houses, with board and room free to those unable to pay. Those who can pay will be charged 50 cents a day for room and meals. Many houses are available at $15 a month, it was announced.

COURT SESSION IS HELD IN STREET

Five minutes after the first quake that wrecked many buildings in the business district of Santa Ana Friday night, department one, superior court, was in session in Sycamore street in front of the sheriff's office.

Attorneys Ray Overacker and Frank West were scheduled to appear before Superior Judge Frank C. Collier, of Los Angeles, at 6 o'clock Friday night to argue a motion for a new trial. Following the quake, attorneys and court attaches notified Judge Collier that they would accept sentences for contempt of court but would not enter the courthouse for the hearing.

Judge Collier moved court into the street, turned on the lights of his automobile and heard arguments of both sides. The motion was denied.

ZANGARA WILL HANG WEEK OF MARCH 20

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 13.—(UP)—Gov. Dave Sholtz today signed the warrant for the execution of Giuseppe Zangara, slayer of Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago in an attempt to assassinate Franklin D. Roosevelt, and set the date for some time during the week of March 20.

Zangara, who pleaded guilty to murdering Mayor Cermak and was sentenced to death in Miami, where the attack occurred Feb. 15, will be put to death in the electric chair at the state prison at Raiford.

The day and hour of execution must be set by Supt. L. F. Chapman of the state prison.

U. S. FLYERS QUIT POSTS AT HANGCHOW

NANKING, China, March 13.—(UP)—Col. J. H. Jouett and 15 American instructors evacuated the Hangchow Flying school tonight in the face of rumors that Hangchow might be attacked by a Japanese air armada.

Flying Chinese planes, the aviators moved to Loyang where they reestablished their school and resumed preparations to train Chinese fliers.

The Nanking populace showed evidence of becoming panic stricken as reports spread that Japanese bombing planes might visit this area.

Ask Extension Of Time for Filing Income Reports

Formal request for extension of time in filing income tax returns from Santa Ana was made in a telegram to the Internal Revenue Department at Washington D. C. The telegram was sent this morning by George A. Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and asked for an extension of time because of conditions following the earthquake here.

Raymer also announced that the annual election of officers and directors of the Chamber of Commerce will be held tomorrow at the chamber of commerce office on North Broadway. Members of the organization are notified to come to the office to cast their votes.

Morning Quake Hits Buffum Store

LONG BEACH, March 13.—(INS)—The violent earthquake shock at 5:16 a. m. today caused three feet of the brick wall to topple from the third floor of Buffum's department store, largest in the city.

BANKS GIVING SOME SERVICE TO CUSTOMERS

Despite earthquakes and bank holidays, three Santa Ana banks were still doing business at the same old stand today under provisions of the president's proclamation.

The Commercial National and the Security First National banks were still open today, making change, cashing emergency checks and some affording access to safety deposit vaults.

The First National bank was transacting such business as was essential.

The Bank of America in Santa Ana was closed today and were handling local customers through the Anaheim and Fullerton branches. The bank will reopen tomorrow, however, officials announced.

Banks in this city are not expected to reopen for normal business until Wednesday, under the terms of President Roosevelt and the United States treasury department. Because local banks are not members of clearing house associations, the restrictions make it necessary that the banks do limited business until Wednesday.

ARMOUR GETS HAITI MINISTER POSITION

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The following nominations were sent to the senate Saturday by President Roosevelt:

To be minister to Haiti, Norman Armour of New Jersey.

Minister resident and consul general to Iraq, Paul Kanbenschue, of Ohio.

Foreign service officers to be secretaries of the diplomatic service, Harold Shantz of Rochester, N. Y.; H. Merrell Bennighoff of New York; Glyce C. Huston, of Iowa; Winthrop R. Scott of Ohio; H. Merle Cochran of Arizona.

To be first assistant postmaster general, Joseph C. O'Mahoney, of Wyoming; second assistant postmaster general, William W. Howes, South Dakota; third assistant postmaster general, Clinton B. Ellensberger, Pennsylvania; fourth assistant postmaster general, Stillman Evans, Texas.

DAMAGE SLIGHT AT WHOLESALE HOUSE

First reports to the effect that grave damage was done to the stock in the Smart and Final Grocery store at 1204 East First street, when a fire wall fell through the roof, breaking a water main, were erroneous so far as the amount of damage was concerned, it was learned today.

The entire damage to the stock will not exceed $250, it was announced today by W. S. Suddaby, president and general manager of the grocery concern.

Inspectors, who made a careful inspection of the building this morning reported that aside from the damage done by the firewalls tumbling, the damage would not be great. Business started again today at the plant and within a few hours is expected to be on its usual basis.

MOSCOW ASKED TO EXPLAIN ARRESTS

MOSCOW, March 13.—(UP)—The British ambassador at Moscow has asked the Russian foreign office for an explanation of the sensational arrests of four British subjects, imprisoned by secret police on charges as yet not revealed.

The men, officials of the powerful Metropolitan Vickers company, were taken into custody by the O. G. P. U. They are Alan Monkhouse, William H. Thornton, John Cushny and William Macdonald.

Homes of the men were ransacked, and their offices searched. Documents were removed from the offices and four Russian employees were arrested. Other offices of the firm at Leningrad were searched, and papers confiscated there, but no arrests were made.

Local Briefs

The Women's Forum of the Y. W. C. A. will not meet tomorrow noon.

Mrs. Ross Cochran, president of Santa Ana Business and Professional Woman's club, today received a letter from Winifred Frye, state president of the Business Woman's organization, offering the services of the entire state federation along whatever lines are suggested. She sent the letter yesterday from Santa Barbara, expressing the state organization's sympathy to the Santa Ana club.

Antlers Lodge No. 794 will meet tonight in the home of John Davis, Jr., 802½ South Barton street, it was announced today.

KING GEORGE SENDS HIS CONDOLENCES

LONDON, March 13.—(UP)—King George expressed sympathy for the earthquake victims in California in a cable sent President Roosevelt.

His message read: "I am deeply concerned by the heavy loss of life occasioned by the disastrous earthquake in California and would ask you, Mr. President, to accept this expression of my sincere sympathy to all those who sustained bereavement or injuries as a result of this calamity."

PICTURE INDUSTRY IS AT STANDSTILL

HOLLYWOOD, March 13.—(UP)—The motion picture industry was practically at a standstill today.

Not a camera turned in the major studios, while workers gathered to discuss financial and labor problems, forcefully brought home to them by an ordered wage cut of between 25 and 50 per cent.

Twenty-four labor unions, including the cameramen, projectionists, studio carpenters and allied crafts, refused to accept the producers' proposal to reduce wages.

While writers, directors, players, executives and technicians accepted the plan to work eight weeks at half pay, with some qualifications, they were to meet again today to reconsider their decision in view of the refusal of the organized trades to accept the cut.

Grand Central Market Opened

But slightly damaged by the earthquake, the Grand Central Market was opened early this morning for business, it was announced. The inside of the market showed no damage from the temblors but the coping on the outside of the building fell to the ground. Reconstruction work on the exteriors was started today and all material or parts of the building considered unsound were torn down to be replaced.

S. A. MERCHANTS BUSY REPAIRING 'QUAKE DAMAGE

Although a number of business establishments in Santa Ana had opened for business today following the severe shocks of the earthquake, a survey was still being conducted of the buildings which have been damaged by the temblors and but few in the downtown area were permitted to open today, it was learned.

Buildings which have been found by actual inspection to be safe were being sanctioned for reopening as fast as they were inspected, however, according to Police Commissioner E. G. Warner. Merchants in the city today were making active preparations to reestablish themselves in business, undaunted by the disaster, according to a survey made by A. Cavalli, manager of the Santa Ana Merchants association. Many local merchants were in the streets of the city today, removing merchandise from windows, cleaning up their stores and making preparations to engage in business again.

NATIONAL STRIKE OF FARMERS LOOMS

DES MOINES, Ia., March 13.—(UP)—Threatening a national farm strike to be called not later than May 13 if their demands are not met, directors of the National Farmers' Holiday association today submitted a five point ultimatum to Congress.

To prevent the strike, which would bind all members of the association to withhold farm produce from markets until released by the directorate, legislation must be enacted by May 3, the farmers decided.

The program was passed by approximately 1000 representatives from 17 states assembled at the call of National President Milo Reno.

S. A. WATER SUPPLY O. K. OFFICIAL SAYS

Santa Ana's water supply is safe, according to an announcement today by Dr. Kenneth H. Sutherland, county health officer.

Dr. Sutherland said this morning that a thorough inspection of the water system had been made and samples of the water taken and tested. These tests, he said, showed that there is no menace to health from the water.

While it is not necessary to boil drinking water, Dr. Sutherland said, there are many people who are following this safeguard.

LIST CONTRACTORS FOR REPAIR WORK

All contractors in Santa Ana are being listed today by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce for distribution to persons needing repair work of any kind done. It was announced by Secretary George A. Raymer. The list is compiled in cooperation with the Orange County Builders' Exchange. Contractors were asked to report at the chamber of commerce offices in the courthouse annex and to fill out blanks which have been provided.

ILLUSION:

A large packing case is exhibited on a raised platform. A young woman climbs into the box. Head, hands and feet protrude, and are held by spectators while the magician takes a crosscut saw and, with the help of an assistant, saws through the center of the box and apparently through the woman.

EXPLANATION:

There are many explanations for this illusion. One method of performing this illusion requires the presence of two girls in the box. One girl curls up in the left half of the box with her head and hands protruding, giving the effect you see illustrated above. The other girl is doubled up in the right half of the box, with only her feet showing. Nobody is sawed in half.

NO TRICKS
...JUST COSTLIER
TOBACCOS
IN A MATCHLESS BLEND

It's fun to be fooled — ...it's more fun to KNOW

Cigarette advertising, too, has its tricks. Consider the illusion that "Flavor" can be achieved by some kind of magical hocus-pocus in manufacturing.

EXPLANATION: Just three factors control the flavor of a cigarette. The addition of artificial flavoring. The blending of various tobaccos. And the quality of the tobaccos themselves.

Quality is by far the most important. Domestic cigarette tobaccos vary in price from 5¢ a pound up to 40¢ a pound. Imported tobaccos vary from 50¢ a pound to $1.15.

No wonder, then, that cigarettes differ in taste—since distinctive, pleasing flavor depends so largely upon the blending of the costlier tobaccos.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Try Camels. Give your taste a chance to sense the subtle difference that lies in costlier tobaccos... a difference that means all the world in smoking pleasure... in pure, unalloyed satisfaction.

20 NURSES AND DOCTORS GO TO STRICKEN CITY

Ten Santa Ana doctors and 20 Santa Ana nurses were rushed to Long Beach hospitals last night for emergency duty following a report that came out of Long Beach to the effect that more physicians and nurses were badly needed.

They gathered at the police station here and were taken to Long Beach under motorcycle escort at 5 p. m. All were on duty throughout the night in the stricken city. Those who volunteered were: Doctors, J. N. Burlew, R. P. Yeagley, M. W. Hollingsworth, John McAuley, James L. Farrage, John R. Daly, N. L. Moore, Fred E. Earel, F. H. Patterson and Melbourne Mabae.

The nurses were: Katherine Smiths, Ann Lebermann, Mary

NATIONAL GUARD COMPANIES FUNCTION SWIFTLY TO BRING ORDER FOLLOWING TREMBLOR

Prompt action on the part of the California National Guard, together with the fact that Santa Ana was fortunate in having two companies of the guard present in the city when the quakes came, undoubtedly lowered the damage in Santa Ana and probably saved a number of lives.

The guard hurriedly called out at 5:55 p. m. Friday, consternation reigned in the Orange county jail which houses some 200 prisoners, but the building proved to be probably one of the safest in the county.

Today it stands without a chip of plaster having fallen from its walls. The prisoners started a bedlam that lasted for more than an hour, finally being calmed by the fact that Theo Lacy, Jr., and his efficient corps of turnkeys walked into the various cells with them and remained steadily "on the job."

Four women prisoners out of the nine in the women's quarters of the jail fainted and had to be revived by doctors who were rushed to the jail. These women were in the top of the building and the swaying was probably worse there than anywhere else.

Before the succeeding quakes came, however, order had been restored and all night Saturday and yesterday the jail was completely quiet. Salter, Eva Reeland, Hazel Flaherty, Ann Kearny, Ellen Smith, Ruth Crawford, Harriett Gates and Mrs. Shellhouse.

All reported to the Red Cross and worked under that agency in Long Beach.

Today Major Donald L. Winans of Anaheim, has his men in perfect military routine. There are sections of five companies reported, all of the 15th Infantry. Third Battalion Headquarters company with Lt. Vernon Heckart and Lt. Leonard Eckles, has 16 men in the field. Company L, with Captain James B. Pettit and Lt. Robert Kellogg, has 59 men, just one short of its full allotment.

Other Companies Join
Company I of Orange, with Captain Albert M. Wunderlich and Lt. Howard Chambers, has 55 men; Company K of Anaheim, under Captain Dean Love and Lt. Richard Elliott, has 39 men; as well as Company L. Company M of San Bernardino has a dozen men in the field with Lt. Robert Page in charge. Despite the fact of this mixture of companies, the utmost order prevails, according to Major Winans.

During the unsettled conditions of Friday night, the regular guard tour of two hours on duty and four hours off, could not be observed. Men stood guard for hour after weary hour. Then the number was increased so that they served six hours with two hours off duty. The time was gradually lessened until by yesterday the routine guard tour was observed.

DRIFTERS GET JOBS AS S. A. NEEDY WAIT

One good thing was expected to result from the havoc wreaked by the series of temblors which struck Santa Ana. That was the employment of many men here who have been without work for many months, and even longer.

Today at noon, nearly two full days after the first severe shock, not one man had been called for work from the Santa Ana Unemployed association headquarters, Tenth and Main streets, although officials of the organization claimed many men had been put to work in rehabilitation programs.

Following a decision last night at a public meeting, it was decided to use unemployed men from the association in the reconstruction program contemplated.

According to Charles Seeber, president of the association, 30 or more transient men who stopped here with bundles on their backs and many schoolboys have been given work, while those who are in the most urgent need of employment have been overlooked.

Following the meeting, officials of the unemployed group immediately called members of the association and told them to be prepared to go to work. This morning nearly 500 Santa Ana unemployed men gathered at the headquarters, prepared to put everything they had into working for reconstruction of buildings in the city—but none were called into service.

The Unemployed association today was prepared to furnish skilled and unskilled labor of all kinds if the call came. Officials of the organization today urged the cooperation of all who will have anything to do with rebuilding in using unemployed men for the work.

TREE PLANTING CEREMONY HELD

EL MODENA, March 13.—The faculty of the El Modena school and a number of guests enjoyed a program and a tree planting ceremony recently.

The fifth and sixth grade pupils have just finished a four weeks' study of trees, arranging the program in observance of Arbor day and the birthday anniversary of Luther Burbank.

Blue gum trees were planted on the east line of the school ground. The pupils earned the money to purchase the trees.

The following program was given: Song, "Trees," by the entire class; reading, "Luther Burbank," Johnnie Stoner; "Plant a Tree," Ethel Armstrong; "The Discontented Fir Tree," Lorraine Schaffert; "Arbor Day," John La Monica; "Tree Planting March," Mrs. J. F. Addy; "Various Uses of Trees," and "Tree Planting," by the class.

INVITE PASTORS TO ORANGE CHURCH

ORANGE, March 13.—The Emmanuel Lutheran church has extended an invitation to the Conference of Southern California Lutheran ministers to hold the annual meeting in this city from July 9 to 13, according to the pastor of the church, the Rev. A. G. Webb.

It is expected that about 300 visiting pastors and visitors will be in attendance. The Rev. G. H. Smukal, of Los Angeles, is the president of the conference and will be in charge of the sessions. The acceptance of the invitation will be presented at a meeting of voting members of the church to be held at the church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock and details will be completed and committees will be appointed after tomorrow's meeting.

STRICKEN CITY CONTACTED BY RADIO STATION

KREG, "The Voice of the Orange Empire," having resumed broadcasting last Friday, 45 minutes after the first temblor shook Santa Ana, has devoted practically all of its time to relief work and in the dissemination of information given out by relief units in charge of various communities. It will continue to do so until further aid is unnecessary. It was announced by Ernest L. Spencer, manager of the station.

It is believed by officials of the local station that KREG was the first station, with the exception of KGPL, the Los Angeles police radio, to establish continuous communication with the city of Long Beach through Radio Station KFOX. Messages from various authorities in Orange county were sent to other authorities in Long Beach by this means, as telephone lines were overburdened with calls. Radio receivers were installed at KFOX and KREG permitting each station to hear the other, communication being carried out in this manner.

KREG's regular schedule from 9 a. m. to 11 p. m. will be continued throughout the week and regular programs will be broadcast as soon as there is no need for emergency service. At all times, however, emergency communication will be available. It was stated, whether or not a regular program is being broadcast at the moment.

The communications accepted by KREG for transmission to Long Beach or other communities are only those of an official nature. Personal messages or inquiries regarding missing persons will not be considered, as messages of this kind would be too numerous to handle and would hinder the transmission of official communications. The local station is cooperating with all official sources, including the police department, the sheriff's office, the American Legion, the National Guard, and all agencies participating in relief and emergency work.

In addition to broadcasting information in English, Senior Enrique Laurent, who conducts the Spanish program from 9 to 10 p. m., on KREG, has assisted in broadcasting information in Spanish.

Regardless of repeated temblors, the local station is remaining in service as long as it is possible to operate.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY- THE HOME WEDDINGS CLUBS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD-

Visit Here is Incentive For Briggs-Timmons Bridge Luncheon

A party which can be dated appropriately only by use of the term "pre-earthquake" took place in the George S. Briggs home, 644 North Broadway Friday afternoon when guests gathered for a luncheon and bridge affair at the invitation of Mrs. Briggs and her daughter, Mrs. Howard Timmons. The entertainment honored Mrs. Margaret Murphy of Denver, Colo., now visiting a brother in Los Angeles, who spent the week end as the houseguest of her two hostesses.

Card covers replaced luncheon cloths at the repast's end and guests spent the remainder of the afternoon trying their skill at bridge with successful contestants at the several tables proving Mrs. Parke S. Roper, Mrs. Will Flood, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank and Mrs. W. E. Winslow. To each went an attractive set of playing cards in reward.

Invited to meet Miss Murphy were Mesdames A. G. Flag, M. D. Borgmeyer, R. G. Tutill, Parke S. Roper, Earl S. Morrow, J. P. Hatfield, Will Flood, B. J. McMullen, A. J. Cruickshank, Alice Harris, W. E. Winslow, J. I. Clark, C. V. Davis, Charles Kelly and A. W. Rutan.

Mrs. R. A. Cushman Concludes Visit Here

Mrs. R. A. Cushman, who has been spending several weeks here in her former home on business connected with the Cushman property, 632 North Broadway, left this morning to rejoin Dr. Cushman at the Mendocino State hospital where he has the superintendency. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Eliza Rankin, formerly of Fullerton, who came south with her for a visit with Orange county relatives and friends.

They had planned to leave Saturday, but the calamity of Friday night's earthquake caused them to change their plans, and Mrs. Cushman waited to assure herself that traveling by automobile would be safe, and that the North Broadway property was undamaged.

Mrs. Cushman divided her time while here among many friends and relatives, the latter including her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Baker, 719 Spurgeon street. She was at the Baker home Friday night when the tremor came, the family circle just leaving for dinner at a downtown restaurant in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Jack Fisher (Frances Baker), Needless to say dinner plans were abandoned, and the group, like the majority of Santa Anans, sought the safety of the "wide open spaces."

Earthquake Comes as Climax to Party in Wade Home

Social records dating back as far as Cleopatra's soiree on the Nile would indicate that parties, in their day, have been broken up by everything from pique to overindulgence, but Mrs. Robert S. Wade, 238 Heliotrope drive, today was able to claim the almost unique, if already extinct, distinction of having her party disbanded by nothing less than an earthquake. The affair was given for Junior Ebell society officers by their retiring president.

Guests, gathered unsuspecting in the Wade home Friday afternoon for a bridge tea arranged as a farewell courtesy, were speeded with more fervor than courtesy seemed to require. Scattered in the living room and on the porch, in the midst of leave-taking, guests were astounded to feel the house suddenly rocked like a toy cradle. Urged by their hostesses to leave the house, guests sought the front yard to find the lawn heaving and groaning in a manner unprecedented. The earthquake once established as the diabolical agency, Mrs. Wade grandly invited her guests to return and inspect her rather picturesque display of living pictures, disfigured china and upper pianos. The invitation proved overly optimistic.

Guests thanked Mrs. Wade for her tea and hurriedly sought their own domestic bonfires - to complete their tea consumption about open air grills.

Appointments at the tea table remained undisturbed through the refreshment hour, Mrs. T. E. Stephenson sharing honors at the presiding decorated table with Mrs. Burns R. Eastman of Pasadena, a sister of the hostesses, who arrived for a visit-and-the earthquake. A third assistant was Mrs. Edmund C. West.

Bridge had occupied the earlier hours, with Mrs. Charles Dawes proving victor at the card games. A parting gift of a silver sugar creamer, brought by officers for Mrs. Wade in appreciation of her services this past term, was presented by Mrs. Dawes as Mrs. Wade approached with the latter's card prize. The party served still another purpose, proving a happy opportunity for guests to meet their hostess' sister, Mrs. Eastman, who has been residing recently at Balboa Beach.

Gathered at Mrs. Wade's invitation were Mesdames Robert G. Tutill, Emrys D. White and T. E. Stephenson of the club's advisory board, who, with Mrs. Emma Prettyman, had contributed flowers for the occasion; Mrs. Paul E. Bailey, Ebell president; Mesdames Charles A. Dawes, Glenn Mathis, Lloyd Steward, J. P. Sifford, Kenneth Conner, Edmund West, Misses Mary Sadley, Boyd Joplin, Nan Mead, Dorothy Forry, Nellie Bales, Constance Cruickshank and Mrs. Burns R. Eastman of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Smith of 816 French street received a visit yesterday from their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Atsatt of Santa Barbara. Dr. and Mrs. Atsatt started south for Los Angeles shortly after the first quake Friday evening. They declared the earthquake strong in Santa Barbara but not comparable to that experienced here. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are among the hundreds of Santa Anans who have abandoned their homes since the first shock, dining and sleeping out.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Hays of Los Angeles, formerly of Santa Ana, arrived in this city yesterday with their family for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kays of 528 West Santa Clara avenue. Unable to reach their friends by telephone, Mr. and Mrs. Hays motored to Santa Ana to make inquiries.

Dr. and Mrs. Waldo Wehrly of Lemon Heights braved all subsequent shocks after the first earthquake Friday evening and proceeded with their original plans of attending a dance at Pasadena. Arrived at the Ateneo club at California Institute of Technology, scene of the affair, the Santa Anans found conditions much as normal, with the crowd of dancers scarcely reduced in size. Damage in that district was described by the Wehrlys as comparatively light.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Yost of 508 Wellington avenue motored to Long Beach yesterday to determine the safety of relatives residing in that city. They discovered all unharmed and learned that Mr. Yost's mother, 85 years of age, had been walking up Pine avenue in Long Beach toward her apartment, at the time of the original tremor. The elderly woman, who barely escaped falling brick, mounted to her apartment after the shock had subsided and proceeded to bring down necessary clothing with a poise which friends regarded as remarkable in a person of her age.

Santa Anans Overtaken By Quake En Route To Los Angeles

En route to Los Angeles to attend a banquet of Southern California active and alumnae members of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority, a party of Santa Anans, traveling in two automobiles, had just passed the East Ninth street viaduct, entering Los Angeles, when the earthquake overtook them. Despite the fact that bricks were shaken by the tremor from a number of the buildings bordering Ninth street, no member of the party felt the shudder excepting William J. Stauffer, 2021 North Ross street, driver of one of the cars. Mr. Stauffer's first reaction was that his machine had a flat tire.

No member of the Santa Ana group realized the seriousness of the happening until the middle of the sorority banquet at the Mona Lisa cafe, when messages began pouring in for banquet attendees from worried relatives in neighboring cities. Attempting to telephone home, the Santa Anans found communication cut off and hastened back to determine the extent of local injury.

The party discovered more evidences of the earthquake on their way home, observing family after family established out of doors for the night and finding the Whittier School for Boys surrounded by bonfires and excited students.

Making the trip from this city were Mr. and Mrs. William J. Stauffer; Mesdames Robert Mize, Horace Leeling, Nat Neff; Miss Helen Drake and Miss Reva Hawkins.

S. A. Officials Meet Fraternal Head

A trio of Santa Ana women took advantage of a meeting of the Southern California Job's Daughters' Guardians association, called for last Thursday night, to motor to Los Angeles to participate in the monthly exercises. Present as honored guests were Mrs. Gertrude E. Benjamin of San Lake City, supreme grand guardian of the world, who is making her first visit to California. Also in attendance were a number of grand officers of the organization.

A school of instruction and special music were additional program features.

Attending from Santa Ana were Mrs. Ben H. Baker, guardian; Mrs. Leslie M. Pearson, treasurer and Mrs. George F. Wheeler, secretary.

John Muir P. T. A. executives today announced the cancellation of all meeting and program plans for the present. After the situation is settled in regard to the city schools, the association will resume its meetings.

The meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographical Union No. 579, scheduled to have been held tonight in the home of Mrs. J. W. Parkinson, has been postponed until next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Fifth Household Economics section of Ebell society will not meet tomorrow as scheduled, it was announced today. Date of the postponed meeting will be made known later.

No March Meeting

Announcement was made today that Past Matrons of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S., will have no meeting in March, but will resume their activities in April.

Standard Bearers Will Meet Tonight

First Methodist church Standard Bearers were among those who today had altered their plans for a meeting and will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the home of Miss Charlotte Steward, 518 West Eighth street, it was announced today by Mrs. W. D. Finn.

This will be a monthly session, with business affairs and program following.

J. O. C. Class

J. O. C. class members of the First Baptist church were pleasantly entertained Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. E. Coulter, 424 South Birch street, with Mrs. Bertha Miller, Mrs. Lena Lowe and Miss Mame Havens as assisting hostesses with Mrs. Coulter.

Mrs. Amy Baird, president, conducted a business meeting, and Miss Annis Platt led devotionals. The time following was devoted to rook games. In serving refreshments, hostesses centered the tables with bouquets of sweet peas. Calla lilies and sweet peas had been attractively arranged throughout the rooms of the home. Thirty-one members of the class were present.

State U. D. C. Leader Attends Santa Ana Chapter Session

Green and white, the time-honored colors associated with St. Patrick's day, furnished the decorative motif used by the Misses Gertrude and Louise Montgomery, when they entertained members and guests of Emma Sanson chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, at the Tustin home of their cousin, Mrs. Clarence A. Nisson, on Thursday afternoon.

The chapter was privileged to entertain at this meeting, the California division president, Mrs. Helena Thorpe Riche, her daughter, Miss Anna Riche, and Mrs. Gorham, all of Los Angeles. Mrs. Riche gave a charmingly informal talk concerning the national convention which she had attended in November and a glowing account of the pleasures in store for those attending the state convention, which will meet May 10 in Stockton. Emma Sanson chapter elected Miss Gertrude Montgomery and Mrs. T. J. Haughton to act as delegates, with Mrs. Ray Steadman and Mrs. C. E. Price as alternates, to attend the convention.

Much regret was expressed over the fact that continued illness of Mrs. Victor Montgomery, a past division, and chapter president, prevented her from attending the chapter meeting and sharing hostess duties with her daughters. She has been greatly missed during the year's enforced absence, and many were the wishes for her speedy recovery.

Loved ones recently have been called by death, from the homes of two chapter members, therefore expressions of sympathy and condolences were extended to Mrs. E. A. Clardy, whose husband passed away on Wednesday, and to Mrs. Clara Duggan, whose sister, Mrs. Packard, died recently.

Members were further saddened by the news of the passing of a former member, Mrs. Nancy Baltzelle, whose death occurred in February, at the home of her son in Portland, Oregon.

Application papers of two prospective members were presented and accepted, namely, those of Mrs. Bates of Yorba Linda, and Mrs. Stetter of Santa Ana.

The program for the afternoon featured a short sketch of Emma Sanson, and her heroism, given by Mrs. Rebecca Pope, chapter historian; and intimate glimpses into the lives of a few famous southern authors, as seen through the eyes of Mrs. Clarence Nisson. These were embellished by Negro dialect readings, taken from "Uncle Remus" stories by Joe Chandler Harris and other Negro dialect writers.

The serving of delicious ices, cakes and confections, all appointments of which carried out the St. Patrick idea, concluded the pleasant afternoon.

Preceding the chapter meeting, Mrs. Lillian S. Pritchett, chapter president, entertained Mrs. Riche, Miss Riche, Mrs. Gorham, and Miss Gertrude Montgomery, junior past president, at a charmingly appointed three course luncheon at her home, 1221 South Ross street.

Decorations featured delicate sweet peas in tones of pink and rose. Miss Percie Head, secretary of the chapter, was also a guest at the luncheon and assisted Mrs. Pritchett in hostess duties.

Former Ebell Leaders Luncheon Guests of Mrs. Stephenson

Work on the quilts which past presidents of Ebell society have undertaken was continued late last evening when the former club executives met as guests of Mrs. T. E. Stephenson in her home at 1225 North Broadway.

Prior to the quilting guests were entertained at luncheon, for which Mrs. Stephenson had appointed her table with a gay assortment of sweet peas.

Enjoying the most recent session were Mesdames W. L. Grubb, J. R. Medlock, C. V. Davis, E. M. Neale, A. J. Cruickshank, C. F. Crose, J. E. Gowen, T. E. Stephenson, S. W. Stanley, F. E. Coulter and R. G. Tutill.

Eteri Club Initiates At Recent Session

An initiation service conducted by officers of the Eteri club at a recent meeting in Ebell clubhouse resulted in the acquisition of nine new members by the organization. The rites were performed for the Misses Myrtle Abplanalp, Dorothy Hankey, Alice Wilson, Mabel Wilson, Grace Elliott, Virginia Thomas, Peggy Tadlock, Dorothy Humphreys and Virginia Thompson. Members joined in a candle-light service.

Initiation exercises followed a dinner served at small tables which members abandoned when their president called them to order for a brief business meeting. Hostesses at the dinner-rites were Miss Ada Teeter and Mrs. Marguerite Corbett.

Miss Mildred Cowan will entertain the club in her home in Tustin the evening of March 20. Members are requested to meet at Ebell clubhouse at 5:30 o'clock that evening for transportation.

Calumit Auxiliary

Delegates to the department convention to be held May 21 in Stockton were chosen Tuesday evening at a meeting of Calumit auxiliary, U. S. W. V., held in Knights of Columbus hall.

Mesdames Hazel Hall, Jean Tantlinger, Marie Lindquist, Maude Brown and Lillian Hubbard were named delegates, with Mesdames Phoebe Hyatt, Frances Moulton, Ruth Hess, Lila Kincaid and Laura Du Bois as alternates.

Several guests were in attendance, including Mrs. Ida Blackmore, department historian of Southern California; Mrs. Laura Keyes, past president of Long Beach auxiliary; Mrs. Nona Moore, president of Long Beach auxiliary.

The committee for a covered-dish dinner to be held March 28 was named, with Mrs. Charles Chatlain as chairman.

Sewing Circle

Calumit Auxiliary Sewing Circle held an all-day meeting last week in the home of Mrs. Forrest Gay, 1015 South Main street. A covered-dish luncheon served at noon had been planned by a committee composed of Mrs. Gay, Mrs. Charles Lindquist, Mrs. Cecil Cook and Mrs. William Brown.

Those present were Mesdames Oscar Kurtz, Charles Hyatt, Charles Winter, Alfred Schmidt, William Williams, Elva Hunt, Sherman Glaze, Warren Du Bois, Frank Rowe, Hannigan Moberly, Henry Helmer, Alfred Moulton, Jack Hess, Charles Ragan, Beatrice Zabel, Charles Lindquist, Cecil Cook, William Brown and the hostess, Mrs. Gay.

GIRLS OF SCHOOL AGE KEEP IN GOOD HEALTH

They Depend Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Why she needs a tonic and regulator at this critical time. Teach her now to guard her health. When she is a happy, healthy, normal wife and mother she will thank you.

My daughter Sylvia is sixteen. She was run down and irregular. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself and I knew it would be good for her. It has regulated her and improved her general health. She works hard every day and feels well. We are telling others about this good medicine." —Mrs. NELLIE EVERTSON, Route 4, Wisconsin Delta, Wis.

"When my daughter Mary was in school she was weak and had no ambition. We saw the Vegetable Compound advertised. Mary took it with wonderful results. It seemed to strengthen her right off. Gave her a good appetite and good color. She is working now in a mill and feels fine. We think the Vegetable Compound is a good medicine for both girls and their mothers." —Mrs. Wm. Van Der Wyck, Madison St., Little Chute, Wis.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"Hurray! Hurray!" We're off to war, the Tines heard we're off to war. "We're going to fight the beetles and it should be a lot of fun."

"I know that we won't lose the fight, so everything will be all right. How proud we'll feel when we are sure the battle has been won."

"Aw, don't be silly," Scouty cried. "If this was war, you'd run and hide. Whoever heard of fighting with mere beetles, anyway?"

"We're going to frighten them. That's all! There'll be no shots to make them fall. To me, a fight with any bugs is just a lot of play."

The wasp who led them then said, "Well, I don't know, son. You cannot tell. Sometimes the beetles get real mad, and battle with their wings."

"If you were ever hit with one, you'd find that it was not much fun. However, we will wait and see just what the future brings."

On o'er the hill the whole bunch ran. "We'll get there quickly as we can," cried Scouty. "I hope Duncy's safe. I'll bet he's scared to death."

Just then they reached the hill-top, where the Tinesmites all got a scare. What they saw just ahead made every Tiny catch his breath.

The beetles still were running round, while Duncy sat upon the ground. The leader wasp cried out, "Come on! We'll soon release that lad."

"If we put up a proper fight, we'll chase the beetles out of sight," "Oh, goody!" shouted Windy. "I'll bet Duncy will be glad."

It didn't take the beetles long to find out that they were in wrong. They all began to run, except the leader, big and black.

The wasp exclaimed, "I'll puncture you, if you don't get out of here, too!" And then he started poking the poor beetle in the back. (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

Relishes That Should Accompany The Meat Course

Certain meats seem to demand a definite type of pickle or relish to bring out their fullest flavor—thus definite types of sauces or relishes have come to be associated with one type of meat. Lamb immediately brings mint sauce to mind—pork is linked gastronomically with apple sauce. But there are variations on the familiar and obvious relishes that may not occur to the home-keeper—variations that will appeal to family and guests alike, and give to a familiar dish a new guise.

And there are a variety of attractive ways of serving relishes so that they will appeal to the eye as well as to the palate. Sweet pickles should be drained from their liquid as should olives, but mustard pickles and those put up in heavy sauces should be served with the accompanying liquid for greatest flavor. Home made relishes always seem to have a special aroma and fragrance of their own—who has forgotten the fragrance of chili sauce cooking in an old fashioned kitchen or its too blase to thrill to the sight of row on row of preserves and relishes in gleaming glass jars that decorate the shelves of a well stocked pantry?

But nowadays when space in the average apartment is apt to be limited it is gratifying to know that nearly all of the old-time relishes may be duplicated in the modern shop. A list of meats and the kinds of relishes most suitably served with them follows—

Beef—Worcester sauce, mustard pickles, spiced peaches, pickled onions, black currant or plum jelly, sweet tomato pickles.

Pork—Apple sauce, sauer kraut, all pickles, stuffed olives, celery, sweet mixed pickles, radishes, currant jelly.

Lamb—Mint sauce, mint jelly, sour gherkins, radishes, chopped sweet relish, green olives.

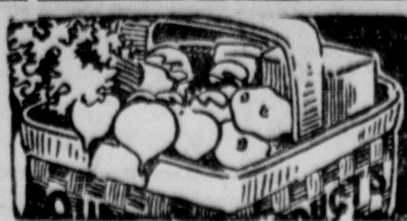

Veal—Pickled beets, chili sauce, mustard pickles, catsup, sliced dill pickles.

Poultry—Cranberry jelly, sweet pickles, dill pickles, ripe and green olives, celery, radishes, currant jelly, black currant jelly.

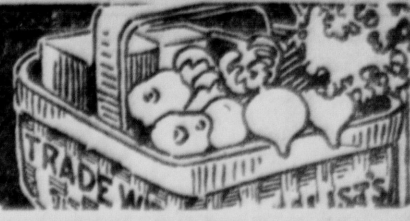

Fish—Sour pickles, tartar sauce, lemons, cole slaw, sweet pepper relish, piccalilli.

All of these Products that go to make up the above menus can be purchased right here in this market and at prices which we believe to be lower than any place in Southern California.

UTILITIES IN COUNTY KEEP SERVICE GOING

Public utility service in Santa Ana and Orange county was either uninterrupted or off for but a brief space of time during the earthquake which rocked portions of the county during the last three days.

The Southern California Edison company met the emergency quickly. After service went out in Santa Ana due to the failure of the Long Beach plant, lines were connected with power from the Big Creek and Huntington Lake plants which supplied this city with illumination and power. Service even in Long Beach was not off for long. In Santa Ana the service was off for but 10 minutes.

A few minutes after the first severe shock, employees of the Edison company voluntarily assembled at the garage on Washington street, ready for repair service. All crews were put to work, consisting of many men, who worked all night Friday night and all day Saturday making sure of service which was not interrupted.

Notwithstanding the magnitude of Friday night's earthquake, almost all of the users of natural gas on the lines of Southern California Gas company had no interruption in their service, according to District Manager Fred Merker.

Pressure in the mains was maintained as usual and the supply was not shut off except in a small section of Orange county and to a few consumers on Terminal Island at San Pedro harbor.

"Service as usual," was the report from Santa Barbara and Ventura counties and from the Santa Monica, Pomona, Whittier and Monrovia districts. Orange county and San Pedro districts reported that 95 per cent of the service was as usual.

None of the important transmission mains reaching to major natural gas production fields were shut off. "In this we consider that we have been very fortunate," said Merker.

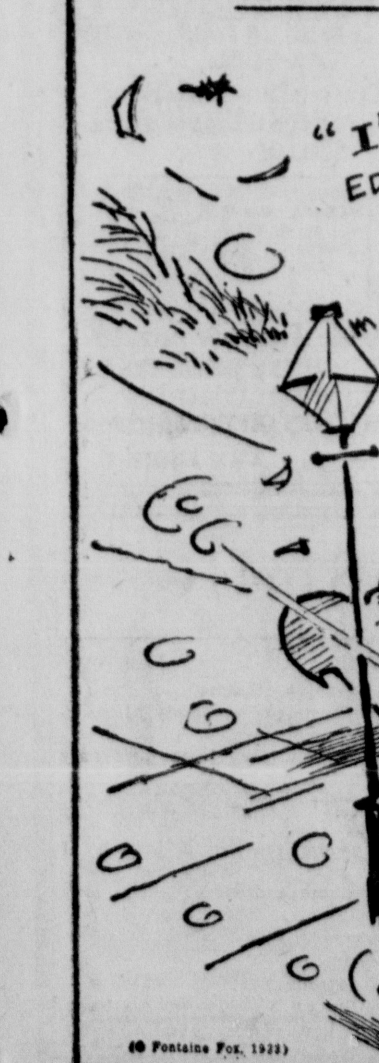

W.C.T.U. TO HOLD SESSION TUESDAY

ORANGE, March 13.—Orange W. C. T. U. members will have a program on "Narcotics" Tuesday afternoon, when they meet at 2:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church parlors. Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, national director of medical temperance, will be speaker.

Mrs. O. U. Hull and Miss Carrie Hayward have charge of the program, which is to include special music. It is announced. The business meeting will be presided over by Mrs. Minnie Neville, president.

MANY FAMILIES CAMPED IN CANYON

Many families today were still camped out in the open, far from the actual scene of the series of earthquakes which rocked the city.

A general exodus of families, especially from the more severely hit cities, was noted immediately after the first severe quake. Many families were still camped, on lawns and in vacant lots.

The road to the Santa Ana canyon was dotted with tents which housed families from this city. Irvine park was another haven sought by women and children, mainly from the earthquake. The Corona park was full and many other roads in areas unaffected by the temblors were used by campers.

Damage to Orange county roads because of the earthquake is comparatively light, according to County Highway Superintendent Nat H. Neff this morning.

Probably the greatest loss occurred at Los Alamitos Friday night when a truck of the road department was destroyed by fire and the driver, R. E. Hand, was slightly burned.

The truck caught fire when a gas main broke and the truck became ignited. Flames enveloped the truck within a few minutes after the main broke and Hand was forced to leap to safety.

The Seventeenth street bridge, according to Neff is slightly damaged but is safe and passable. The Fifth street bridge is unharmed. The approaches to the Talbert street bridge are down but the structure is safe for automobile and pedestrian traffic. All other bridges in the county, Neff said, are undamaged.

Along Ocean avenue there are a few places where the highway has dropped slightly and similar sunken spots have been revealed on Stanton avenue and on Lincoln avenue near Cypress. These dips will not be repaired, Neff said, until all danger of further tremors have passed.

All other roads in the county Neff said, are passable and safe.

DISAPPEARED
SACRAMENTO—(UP)—O. Jorgi was told that itinerants were taking wood from his four-room house. Jorgi investigated and found the entire structure gone.

MONDAY, MARCH 13—(Read Psalm 23:5-6)
How few of us can really say: "My cup runneth over." You would think our cups had no bottoms so hard it is to fill them and keep them full.
Why? Because, perhaps, we are trying to fill them with the wrong things. We have been dreadfully busy trying to fill our cups with motor cars and radios and profitable investments, thinking that thus they would be full of happiness and well-being.
And strangely enough, even cups quite full of things often turn out quite empty of happiness. There is another, surer way to fill the cup of life. It can be filled with love and goodness, with joy in simple things, with contentment. God will fill any life with such as these out of His inexhaustible store, and no cup so filled empties another cup; it helps to fill it. We can never say, "My cup runneth over," till we share it with others.
Prayer: We bring our lives to Thee, Lord of the fullness of life, asking Thee for the great gifts of loving goodness, contented service and joy in the unfulfilling and ever shared. Forgive us all the foolish ways in which we try to satisfy the needs of immortal spirits and so satisfy us with gifts proper to our needs that we may gratefully acknowledge Thy abundant mercies. In His name Who came that we might have life above measure. Amen.

EMPLOY RESIDENTS FIRST

We should like to emphasize to all those who employ labor in the city and in the county now, to first see to it that all local people, who need and are able to work, be employed. Unemployed people are headed for the stricken area, and they are coming in with their blankets on their backs and wanting work.

It would be a fine thing if work could be given all of them, but we should bear in mind that our own neighbors and friends and citizens are here in large numbers, who have been without employment for many months, some of them for as much as two years. This is the time for them to be put to work, and certainly the first thing that should be required of any man seeking employment is that he should show evidence that he is a resident of the particular locality where he is seeking work.
If there is enough to give all employment, and some to spare, then of course we can be liberal with our employment work.

We have often spoken of the fine attitude of mind amongst our unemployed, as a whole.
Everyone has remarked about it. It has been one of the cheering things during this whole depression. Now as we are about to come out of the depression, and as work, in a sense almost provisionally, has been guaranteed to this area, let us see that these men who have suffered so uncomplainingly are first taken care of through employment. We are glad there are those who are greatly interested in this phase of the work. We urgently hope that the officials, owners, contractors and others will bear this in mind.

A NEW LIGHTHOUSE

Among those who rendered remarkable and heroic service through the earthquake crisis were the corps of the local radio stations KREG and KFOX. KREG operating in the Register building from which, after the publication of the extra Friday night, everyone else with some considerable feeling of relief had fled, carried on, transmitting vital messages and keeping people in touch with a spirit which made it easier to keep up morale all over this section.

For many people it was the first catastrophe in which the radio had been a part of their experience. It was considerable comfort to know that there was an instrument ready to transmit important communications from the health department or the fire chief. It was not so difficult for the reasoning individual to "carry on" when he could figure out that if there were predictable and avoidable dangers, there was a means whereby the responsible officials would inform the people. Furthermore the radio served to keep the imagination in leash. Shocks and rumbles and sirens stimulate the imagination. It goes galloping off to picture immeasurable terror. But then comes the radio, in the center of events, in touch with affairs as the individual cannot be, and reports what is happening and has happened close by and at a distance away.

These radio stations were like lighthouses amid storms. They carried through, without a break, except for the period when the power was off. The important service in Long Beach which was performed by KFOX must have made Orange county citizens feel thankful that had this section been as hard hit as Long Beach, there was a radio station here which could serve to summon aid and assist in organization and relief work.

FINE SPIRIT MANIFEST

It is remarkable, in the midst of our difficulties, how those who have been suffering, possibly as much, if not more than other localities, from our depression, are now actually helping in a very remarkable way.

There is Santa Clemente, as typical of the Coast cities. It is a gem of a city, as we all know, beside the sea. Its founder and builder, Ole Hanson, took virgin and relatively worthless land, and on the tax duplicate for little money, and made it not only a beautiful city, but a source of great revenue to the county by the amount of taxes that it has brought to the public coffers.

But naturally, during this period, people have not been building homes beside the ocean.

Most of them have been spending money for only the direct necessities, and so these towns have been hard hit, and particularly San Clemente, because of the valuation of the city, and the stopping of it en route to fulfilling its ambitions. But now, in the midst of the catastrophe, many scores of people have been taken into the hospitals, without any regard to cost.
And today messages come from San Clemente that there is room at the hotel and hospital for a few score more. Those who can pay need pay but half a dollar a day for all necessities, and those who cannot, and who have come from the stricken area, are welcome as well.

Our hats are off to this spirit. We have more faith in San Clemente today than ever before. That kind of co-operation insures success. It will win because it deserves to win.

BUSINESS MEN WITHSTAND BLOW

We want to say a word on behalf of our business men in the city of Santa Ana. They, like others, have gone through severe strains during these past months. We thought it had reached the climax when the Governor declared the holiday and the banks were compelled to close.

"But we hadn't seen nothing." Right in the midst of it, on Friday night, we had this cataclysm which prevented business being carried on in the downtown section of Santa Ana.
Not only so, but in some cases stocks were injured. With many of these business men going through constant losses, with falling prices, with limited finances, with all of this condition constantly increasing, the merchants and business men of Santa Ana have evidenced a courage and an optimism that would be difficult to parallel, and certainly impossible to beat.

They are ready now to go on. Because of this optimism, resulting in the tenacious grip which these business men have shown on their affairs, Santa Ana will emerge triumphant, and we will have a bigger and better city, with a constantly increasing confidence.

COMMUNITY GRATEFUL FOR TELEPHONE SERVICE

The telephone operators who remained at their posts, so that all through Friday night, while tremors continued to rock this section, calls were taken and put through wherever possible, are deserving of particular congratulation. For two types of calls the services of the operators were most appreciated. The first was the emergency calls for necessary aid, the second was the calls from individuals to those dear to them. Following the first shock, the principal thought in everyone's mind was to get in touch with those whose welfare is paramount in the mind and heart of the individual.

For a period Friday night, we were out of touch with a telephone, with the family scattered. It added immeasurably to our morale when we got back again where there was a telephone. The experience was undoubtedly multiplied a thousand-fold at that time. The community is appreciative of the telephone service throughout this crisis and congratulates the personnel upon which it depended.

HOW LUCKY ARE YOU?

Those who consider stepping on gum a very unhappy experience have reason to reverse their opinion because of the experience of a pedestrian recently. This man discovered in the wad of gum which he was scraping from his shoe a gold ring set with rubies and a couple of small diamonds.

He has demonstrated that it is possible to pick up something worth while along with the pestiferous gum. And then again one might not pick anything up but the gum. The optimist sees the doughnut, the pessimist sees the hole. Go out and step on some gum and see what you get. Dare you to.

The United States Daily

New York Times

Some readers may have noticed in Sunday's newspaper a brief Washington dispatch announcing that "owing to the economic depression and recent developments in the general banking situation." The United States Daily has been forced to suspend publication. Founded by David Lawrence just seven years ago, this unusual experiment in modern journalism had from the beginning as its sole purpose the attempt to "present a complete and comprehensive record of the daily activities of the Government of the United States in all its branches." More recently the Daily had covered official state activities also. It had no editorial columns and took no part in politics. Its non-partisan character was attested by a roster of owners and sponsors which included public-spirited men and women of such varied interests as Charles E. Hughes, Owen D.
Young, Belle Sherwin, Bernard Baruch, Frank Polk,
John Hays Hammond, John W. Davis, F. Trubee
Davison, Julius Rosenberg, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Anne Morgan, Bascom Slemp and Norman Davis.

Mr. Lawrence had a right to be proud of the men who had faith in him and his newspaper venture, even if some may have had doubts as to its commercial success. He had a right to be equally proud of the tradition of accuracy, completeness and strict impartiality which he unwaveringly maintained. There was much in The Daily of little interest to the ordinary newspaper reader, but columns were filled with material of great interest and usefulness to lawyers, bankers, college professors, editors and others who deal in a business or professional way with the daily grind from capital mills. There was something particularly admirable and fine in Mr. Lawrence's own faith in his enterprise, in his constant devotion to it, and in the courageous way in which he battled against odds that grew increasingly heavy as the depression continued. He hopes to resume publication later. Even should that prove impracticable, his fellow-craftsmen will confidently expect his abilities to find suitable expression and reward. For the standard he raised they are lastingly in his debt.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE LIGHT OF EXPERIENCE

Until I'd grown a garden plot
I'd fancied that the farmer's lot
Was one that I Might by and by
Be very glad to follow.
Good heavenly toil with rake and hoe
Beneath the sunshine's ruddy glow
Upon the lea,
It seemed to me,
Had business beaten hollow.

But when I'd toiled in sun and rain
To conquer bugs—and quite in vain—
When tiny things
On busy wings
Ate everything I'd planted,
When rains came late or much too soon
And every morning, night and noon
More green things died,
I sadly sighed
And solemnly recanted.

When men who toil with plough and spade
Applied to Washington for aid
It seemed to me
That such a plea
Was greedy and unfair of them.
But since I've run a back-yard farm
I view their plight with real alarm.
It's my belief
They need relief,
And Congress should take care of them.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

DOMESTIC ALLOTMENT AGAIN

Last week I registered my judgment against the domestic allotment type of legislation as a cure for our agricultural ills.

Today I want to paint a bit more detailed picture of this sort of legislation.

For more than 75 years we have been developing certain markets for branches of our agriculture for export as well as domestic trade.

Last year in four such branches
—cotton, wheat, tobacco and pork products—the excess productive capacity over domestic demand stood as follows:

Cotton, 50 per cent; wheat, 20 per cent; tobacco, 35 per cent;
pork products, 10 per cent.

These four branches of agriculture produce about 85 per cent of our agricultural exports.

During the last three years we have suffered acutely in these four branches of agriculture as exports have dropped and surpluses have piled up.

Prices in these four branches of agriculture have been markedly lower than prices in agricultural branches producing primarily for domestic consumption.

In such a situation, the conclusion seems to me inescapable that any program of farm legislation that does not reopen world markets is greatly inadequate, and that any attempt to meet such a situation by scaling production down towards domestic needs is irrational and a backward step.

I am aware that there is no simple recipe for reopening world markets.

But we should clear the decks promptly for a comprehensive attempt to effect reciprocal trade agreements with other nations wherever the feasibility of such agreements is indicated.

The time is ripe for such agreements with the countries of western Europe.

If war debts concessions cansten such trade agreement, we should muzzle our jingoes and go ahead with such concessions as sound judgment may dictate.

YOU TOO

A group of teachers were studying unusual children. The professor said, "These are the stig-mata of the abnormal children.
Don't take them too literally.
Don't let them be the last word in your study of the children. They are only the first syllables of your knowledge concerning them. They may mean something and they may mean nothing. You see every person in this room has within or upon him some such mark. Not a single one among us is without some trace of imperfection. Maybe your right ear is a bit pointed;
perhaps your hands are not shapely; certainly your face is crooked."

The class laughed aloud and began searching each other for the marks of degeneracy. After the first shock of knowing themselves to be less than perfect was over, something they had long hidden even from themselves, they enjoyed the freedom the truth had conferred upon them. If they were not perfectly made they could not be expected to be perfectly behaved. The hundred per cent standard was lifted from their shoulders.

Another thing had been lifted as well. The teachers who listened to the professor that day would never again jump to conclusions about a child again. An outward sign was not enough. A child could be queer and still deserve consideration and help. He might be very queer and carry within him the promise of great success.
"You see," went on the professor, "old in the knowledge of the unusual child, 'all experience is common. Every one of you has thought and acted as some time or other, as these children think and act. The only difference between you is that for you it was a swiftly passing phase while for these children it is a stage of arrival, more or less fixed. You passed through the stage of untruthfulness, stubbornness, selfishness, cruelty, successfully and so learned to adjust yourself to society. You had one maybe two experiences with setting fires and were satisfied in that direction.

Maybe you ran away a couple of times, maybe only once, maybe only in thought, but you ran away. All human experience is common experience. If you learn to accept this fact you will interpret the behavior of your pupils accurately and deal with them understandingly and therefore successfully."

This common experience is what draws teachers and pupils together. Sympathy is born of it and understanding comes out of it.
Instead of feeling a wrathful distaste for the erring child if one feels the touch of common brotherhood with tenderness and extends a helping, encouraging hand.
It makes all the difference in the world in the relationship of teachers and children, of parents and children.

When a child is wilful, when he wants what you know is not good for him consider your own experience for a moment before speaking to him. Let the child that once was you live again for an instant and you will be able to help your child, perhaps keep him from making a mistake.

But if you plan the Pharisee he will pass down one side of the street and you the other, estrangers.

bill passed by the house. The bill allowed the government to appropriate the proceeds from sales of public domain.

House:

Ordered printing of 10,000 copies each of majority and minority report of ways and means committee, in which it recommended a resolution "that the government deposits may, in the opinion of the house, be safely continued in the

Passed the revenue collection bill, 149 to 48, and Representative Mc-Duffie of Alabama asked for the privilege of writing a new title for the bill, which he termed "its epitaph."
